(1) In the judgments coming upon the Canaanites because of their awful sins.

(2) In the descendants of Abraham being given possession of the land according to God's promise, Ge.12.7.

PES.

According to the common conception, the Crossing of the Jordan represents Death,—and Canaan, Heaven; but a better analogy is given below:

Canaan, a type of the Higher Christian Life, to be won by warfare, Rom.7.23.

The Canaanites, a type of our Spiritual Enemies, Eph.6.12.

The Warfare of Israel, a type of the Fight of Faith, I Tim.6.12.

Israel's Rest after the Conquest (Josh.11.23), a type of the Rest of the Soul, Heb.4.9.

The Canaanites partly subdued, a type of Be-setting Sins, unconquered, Heb.12.1.

VOICE SELECTIONS.

a) God's encouragement of Joshua, ch.1.1-9.

b) Joshua's Farewell Address, ch.23.1-16; 24.1-27.

29—The Book of Judges

WRITER, unknown; tradition attributes the authorship to Samuel.

MAIN THEME, The History of Israel during the Times of the Fourteen Judges.

The book portrays a series of relapses into idolatry on the part of God's people, followed by invasions of the Promised Land and oppressions by their enemies.

The narrative centers around the personalities of the heroic judges who were raised up to become deliverers of Israel, whenever they sincerely repented of their sins. The dark side of the picture is especially emphasized in the record.

A study of the dates would seem to show that the people maintained an outward loyalty to Jehovah a larger part of the time than the casual reading of the book would indicate.

FREE PERIODS into which the book may be divided.

NOPSIS.

I. The Period Immediately after the Death of Joshua, ch.1.1-2.10.

II. The Period of the Seven Apostasies, Six Servitudes and Civil War, chs.3-16.

The First Servitude, to Mesopotamia,—Judge, Othniel, ch.3.5-9.

The Second Servitude, to Moab,—Judges, Ehud and Shamgar, ch.3.12-31.

The Third Servitude, to Jaban and Sisera,—Judges, Deborah and Barak, ch.4.1-23.

The Fourth Servitude, to Midian,—Judge, Gideon, chs.6,7.

The Civil War, Judges, Abimelech, Tola and Jair, chs.8.33-10.5.

The Fifth Servitude, to the Philistines and Ammon,—Judges, Jephtha, Ibzan, Elon and Abdon, chs.10-12.

The Sixth Servitude, to the Philistines,—Judge, Samson, ch.13-16.

III. The Period of Confusion and Anarchy, chs.17-21.

SPIRITUAL MESSAGES.

(1) Human failure, divine mercy, and deliverance.

(2) The power of prayer in emergencies when it becomes a real crying to God. Note in the book the repeated statement that Israel cried unto the Lord. See "Crying to God," Text Cyclo. No. 1071.

COMPANION BOOK, Galatians. Compare the relapse of Israel into idolatry with the backsliding of the Galatian church into ceremonialism.

CHARACTER STUDIES,

Deborah, the patriotic woman, see Text Cyclo. No. 948.

Jephtha, the man of the rash vow, see Text Cyclo. No. 1876.

Samson, the weak strong man, see Text Cyclo. No. 3137.

34—The Book of II Kings

A SEQUEL TO I KINGS

AUTHORSHIP unknown.

MAIN SUBJECT, The History of the Kingdoms of Israel and Judah, from the latter part of the reign of Ahaziah in Israel, and Jehoram in Judah, up to the time of the captivities.

As far as the history of Israel is concerned it is a dark picture of degenerate rulers and sinful people ending in slavery.

The kingdom of Judah was also on the down grade, but judgment was not visited upon her so speedily because of the influence of a number of good kings who reigned during this period; see analysis of II Chronicles, No. 4236.

The interest of the book largely centers around the record of the lives of the two prophets, Elijah and Elisha.

SPIRITUAL MESSAGE, The Powerful Influence of rulers upon a nation.

SYNOPSIS. The book may be divided into three parts.

PART I. Mainly the History of the last days of Elijah.

- (1) He calls down fire from heaven to destroy his enemies, ch.1.9-12.
 - (2) The dividing of the River Jordan, ch.2.8.
 - (3) His translation, ch.2.11.
- For other references to his life, see Text Cyclo. Nos. 1112, 4298.

PART II. Mainly the History of Elisha.

- (1) He asks for a double portion of grace, ch.2.9.
- (2) He divides the Jordan, ch.2.14.
- (3) He heals the waters, ch.2.19-22.
- (4) The cursing of the mocking children, ch.2.23,24.
- (5) The procuring of water for an army, ch.3.15-20.
- (6) The increasing of the widow's oil, ch. 4.1-7.
- (7) The raising of a dead child to life, ch.4.18-37.

- (8) The healing of the deadly pottage, ch.4.38-41.
 - (9) The feeding of the multitude, ch.4.42-44.
 - (10) The healing of Naaman, the leper, ch.5.5-15.
 - (11) The smiting of Gehazi with leprosy, ch.5.20-27.
 - (12) The causing of the iron to swim, ch.6.1-7.
 - (13) The disclosing of the plans of the king of Syria, ch.6.
 - (14) Smites the Syrians with blindness, ch.6.18-20.
 - (15) His prophecy of plenty for a famine-stricken city, ch.7.1-18.
 - (16) Secures the restoration of her land to the Shunammite woman, ch.8.3-6.
 - (17) Prophecies concerning the exaltation of Hazael, ch.8.7-15.
 - (18) Commands the anointing of Jehu as king, ch.9.1-6.
 - (19) Retains his prophetic power on his death-bed, ch.13.14-19.
 - (20) The post-mortem manifestation of divine power at his sepulcher, ch.13.20,21.
- The Secret of his Power,—His desire for the reception of a double portion of grace enabled him to live in the spirit of continual victory. See Text Cyclo. Nos. 1117, 4299.

PART III. Other Notable Events in the history of Judah and Israel.

- (1) Jehu's execution of divine judgment upon Joram, Ahaziah, Jezebel, seventy of Ahab's children, and the worshippers of Baal, chs. 9,10.
- (2) The good reign of Joash (Jehoash), chs. 11,12.
- (3) The reign of evil kings in Israel, followed by the captivity of the ten tribes, chs. 13-17.
- (4) The good reign of Hezekiah, chs.18-20.
- (5) The evil reign of Manasseh, ch.21.
- (6) Josiah, the last of the good kings, chs.22,23.
- (7) A series of evil kings in Judah lead to the captivity of the nation, and the destruction of Jerusalem, ch.25.

4235—The Book of I Chronicles

AUTHORSHIP uncertain, thought to have been edited by Ezra.

First and Second Chronicles are one book in the Jewish Bible.

TIME. Probably written during, or shortly after, the captivity. May be regarded as

A SUPPLEMENT to the books of I and II Samuel, and I and II Kings.

Some of the historical descriptions are almost identical with those of the preceding books.

DISTINCTIVE FEATURES. The books of Samuel and Kings refer to events in both kingdoms,—whereas Chronicles deals almost exclusively with the history of Judah.

CENTRAL THOUGHT, The Sovereignty of God, ch.4.9-10; 5.20; 11.14; 12.18; ch.14.2,10,14,15.

CENTRAL CHARACTER, David, for the history of his life, see Text Cyclo. Nos. 919, 4296.

ANALYSIS OF THE BOOK.

ART I.

- (1) Chs.1-9, Genealogies.
- (2) Ch.10, Overthrow and death of Saul.

ART II. The Reign of David.

- (1) His accession to the throne,—the capture of Jerusalem,—his mighty men and armies, chs.11,12.
- (2) His mistake in attempting to transport the Ark on a "new cart," ch.13.
- (3) His victory over the Philistines, ch.14.
- (4) The Ark brought to Jerusalem, ch.15.
- (5) The great festival of rejoicing, ch.16.
- (6) The King's desire to build a temple for Jehovah denied, ch.17.
- (7) Great military victories, chs.18-20.
- (8) The sinful census, ch.21.
- (9) The preparation of materials for the building of the temple, and a charge to Solomon, ch.22.
- (10) The further organization of the affairs of the kingdom, chs.23-27.
- (11) David's last charge to the people and to his son, Solomon;—Solomon made king, chs. 28,29;—the death of David, ch.29.28.

CHOICE SELECTIONS.

- (1) Jabez's Prayer, ch.4.10.
- (2) David pours out the water from the well of Bethlehem, ch.11.17-19.
- (3) David's Psalm, ch.16.7-36.
- (4) Description of David's Chorus Choir and Orchestra, ch.25.
- (5) David's last blessing and prayer, ch.29. 10-19.

36—The Book of II Chronicles

This book is a sequel to I Chronicles, and likewise supplement to the book of Kings. The history of Judah as related here is on the whole a dark picture of instability and apostasy, interspersed with periods of religious reformation.

CHARACTERISTIC FEATURES. The Spiritual Element in the History is more emphasized in Chronicles than in Kings.

- (1) See below "The Five Periods of Reformation."
- (2) Other illustrations of references found only in II Chronicles,
 - Abijah's devout address, ch.13.5-12.
 - Asa's neglect of God, ch.16.12.
 - Jehoshaphat's foolish alliances, ch.20.35.
 - Cause of Uzziah's leprosy, ch.26.16-21.
 - Manasseh's captivity and restoration, ch.33. 11-13.

FIVE PERIODS OF REFORMATION are described.

- (1) Under King Asa, ch.15.
- (2) Under King Jehoshaphat, ch.17.6-10.
- (3) Under the priest, Jehoiada, and King Joash, ch.23.16-19.
- (4) Under King Hezekiah, chs.29-31.
- (5) Under King Josiah, chs.34,35.

SUMMARY.

ART I. The Reign of Solomon.

- (1) Solomon's sacrifices at Gibeon, and his wise choice, ch.1.
- (2) The building of the temple, chs.2-4.
- (3) The glory of the Lord fills the house, ch.5.

- (4) Solomon's prayer at the dedication of the temple, ch.6.
- (5) Jehovah appears to Solomon again at night, ch.7.
- (6) The prosperity and fame of Solomon, ch.8.
- (7) The visit of the Queen of Sheba, and the death of Solomon, ch.9.

PART II. The Folly of Rehoboam, leading to the Division of the Kingdom, ch.10.

PART III. The History of various reigns from Rehoboam to Zedekiah.

- Abijah, ch.13; Asa, chs.14-16; Jehoshaphat, chs. 17-20; Jehoram, ch.21; Ahaziah, ch.22.1-9; Athaliah (queen), ch.22.10-23.15; Joash, ch.24; Amaziah, ch.25; Uzziah, ch.26; Jotham, ch.27; Ahaz, ch.28; Hezekiah, chs.29-32; Manasseh, ch.33.1-20; Amon, ch.33.21-25; Josiah, chs.34, 35; Jehoahaz, ch.36.1-3; Jehoiakim, ch.36.4-8; Jehoiachin, ch.36.9,10; Zedekiah, ch.36.11-13.

SPIRITUAL MESSAGE, The Power of Prayer to give success and victory, ch.11.16; 13.13-18; 14.11; 15.12; 17.4; 20.3; 26.5; 27.6; 30.18-20; 31.21; 32.20; 34.3.

SPIRITUAL LESSONS.

- (1) The Preëminence of wisdom, ch.1.7-12.
- (2) The Glory of the Lord fills the prepared temple, ch.5.13,14.
- (3) The Spirit of Praise renders God's people invincible, ch.20.20-25.

4237—The Book of Ezra

WRITER unknown. It is generally conceded that Ezra was not the author of the entire book, but may have been the compiler of those portions which he did not write. He was a Jewish exile in Babylon of priestly descent, ch.7.1-6.

For his characteristics see Text Cyclo. No. 1199.

MAIN SUBJECTS. The return of the Jews from their captivity in Babylon, the rebuilding of the temple, and the inauguration of social and religious reforms.

SPIRITUAL MESSAGE. The power of the Word of God in human life. Referred to as the "Word of the Lord," ch.1.1; 9.4; "Law of Moses," ch.3.2, 6.18; 7.6; "Commandments," ch.6.14; 10.3,5; "Law of the Lord," ch.7.10,14.

SYNOPSIS.

PART I. The Return of the First Colony of Jews under the Leadership of Zerubbabel, chs.1-6.

- (a) Authorized by King Cyrus, ch.1.1-4.
- (b) The names of the returning remnant of the people, the priests, the Levites, the descendants of Solomon's servants, and their substance and gifts, ch.2.

PART II. Their Building Enterprises.

- (a) The altar rebuilt and worship established, ch.3.1-6.
- (b) The foundation of the temple laid, ch.3. 8-13.
- (c) The people of the land desire to join in the work, ch.4.1,2.
- (d) When their offer was rejected they became violent opposers, causing the suspension of the work, ch.4.4-24.
- (e) After a long delay the work was resumed by an edict of King Darius, chs.5,6.

- (f) The temple finished and dedicated and ancient rites observed, ch.6.15-22.

PART III. The Return of the Second Colony under Ezra, authorized by the king, Artaxerxes, chs.7-10.

- (a) The list of Ezra's company of returning exiles, and their arrival at Jerusalem, ch.8.
(b) The correction of social evils by Ezra, chs.9,10.

THE LITERARY AND RELIGIOUS WORK OF EZRA. He is the reputed author of several Psalms, notably the 119th.

According to ancient tradition he wrote First and Second Chronicles, but this cannot be proven.

He was associated with Nehemiah in initiating a revival of the study of the Scriptures, Neh.ch.8.

He was reputed to be the organizer of the Jewish synagogue, and to have assembled most of the books of the Old Testament.

CHOICE SELECTIONS.

- (1) Ezra's sublime trust in divine protection when called upon to carry great treasures through dangerous places, ch.8.21-32.
(2) Ezra's prayer and confession for the people, ch.9.5-15.

4238—The Book of Nehemiah

In the Hebrew manuscripts the books of Ezra and Nehemiah appeared as one book.

AUTHOR OR COMPILER uncertain. A large portion of the book is regarded by many students as an autobiography of Nehemiah.

KEY TEXT, ch.6.3.

LEADING TOPICS, The Rebuilding of the Walls of Jerusalem, the rehearsal of certain Divine Laws, and the restoration of Ancient Ordinances.

SYNOPSIS.

PART I. A TYPICAL STUDY.

THEME, The Rebuilding of the Walls of Jerusalem considered as a Type of the up-building of the Divine Kingdom in the Earth.

- (a) The walls broken down, ch.1.3, may typify the defenses of God's kingdom weakened.
(b) The preliminary season of fasting and prayer, ch.1.4-11, may typify the state of mind which should precede all great spiritual enterprises.
(c) Nehemiah's sacrifice of a fine position for the good of the cause, ch.2.5, may typify the sacrificial service always needed when a great work is to be accomplished.
(d) The night inspection of the city, ch.2.15, 16, may typify the necessity of facing the facts before beginning constructive work.
(e) The seeking of co-operation, ch.2.17,18, may typify an essential element in all successful work.
(f) The enlistment of all classes, ch.3, may typify the importance of thorough organization.

THE SAME METHODS MAY BE USED IN OVERCOMING HINDRANCES TO SPIRITUAL WORK.

- (a) Ridicule, ch.2.19, overcome by confidence in God, ch.2.20.

- (b) Wrath and contempt, ch.4.3, overcome by prayer and hard work, ch.4.4-6.
(c) Conspiracy, ch.4.7,8, overcome by watchfulness and prayer, ch.4.9.
(d) Discouragement of friends, ch.4.10, overcome by steadfast courage, ch.13,14.
(e) Selfish greed, ch.5.1-5, overcome by rebuke and self-sacrificing example, ch.5.6-17.
(f) Work completed, enemies confounded, persistent endeavor, ch.6.1-15.

PART II. CLOSING EVENTS.

- (a) The rehearsal and exposition of the Divine Law, ch.8.
(b) The confession of the Priests and Levites and the signing of the covenant, chs.9,10.
(c) The call for people to dwell in Jerusalem, ch.11.
(d) The dedication of the walls, ch.12.
(e) Social and religious reforms, ch.13.

4239—The Book of Esther

AUTHOR unknown.

CANONICITY. The right of the book to a place in the Scripture Canon has been greatly disputed. The name of God does not appear in it, while a heathen king is referred to over one hundred and fifty times. There is no allusion to prayer or spiritual service of any kind, with the possible exception of fasting.

MESSAGE. Without doubt it occupies its place in God's Word because of its hidden teaching of overshadowing providence in connection with God's people and the certainty of retribution overtaking their enemies.

LEADING TOPIC, The deliverance of the Jews from Queen Esther. For an analysis of her life see Text Cyclo. No. 1152.

KEY VERSE, ch.4.14.

SYNOPSIS. The main events of the history center around three feasts:

- I. THE FEAST OF AHASUERUS, and events connected with it.
- (1) On the seventh day, when the king was merry with wine, Queen Vashti, being ordered to appear before the assembled princes, refuses, ch.1.1-12.
 - (2) The angry king decides to accept the advice of his wise men, and dethrones the queen, ch.1.13-22.
 - (3) After a kingdom-wide search for a new queen, Esther, the Jewess, is chosen, ch.2.1-17.
- II. THE FEAST OF ESTHER, preliminary events, and its final outcome.
- (1) Mordecai, the Jew, the queen's foster father, saves the king's life, ch.2.7 and ch.2.21-23.
 - (2) The promotion of Haman and the failure of Mordecai to do him honor so enraged Haman that he decides to destroy all the Jews, ch.3.1-15.
 - (3) The mourning of the Jews on the discovery of Haman's plot, ch.4.1-4.
 - (4) The heroic determination of Esther to appear before the king with a plan in her mind to foil the plot, ch.4.5-17.

- (5) Esther's gracious reception by the king, and her invitation to himself and Haman to attend her feast, ch.5.1-8.
- (6) Haman erects a gallows upon which to hang Mordecai, ch.5.9-14.
- (7) During a sleepless night the king examines the court records and discovers that Mordecai has received no reward for saving his life, ch.6.1-3.
- (8) Haman's selfish vanity results in his own humiliation and great honor for Mordecai, ch.6.4-11.

0—The Book of Job

THOR unknown.

TE, subject of much discussion. Regarded by many scholars as the oldest book in the Bible; hers place it as late as the exile.

CE, the Land of Uz.

IN SUBJECT, the Problem of Job's Affliction. The book is poetical and pictorial in its descriptions. It may be divided into twelve scenes.

Scene I. Job and his family before affliction overtook them.

Job appears as a godly father, unspoiled by prosperity, ministering, as a priest, to his large household, ch.1.5.

Scene II.

(a) Satan enters the divine presence, insinuating that Job serves God because of special favors, ch.1.9-11.

(b) Satan is permitted to test Job by inflicting the loss of property and children, ch.1.12-20.

(c) Job retains his integrity, ch.1.21-22.

Scene III.

(a) Satan re-enters the divine presence, saying, If Job's own body were afflicted, he would curse God, ch.2.1-5.

(b) Satan is permitted to smite Job with a horrible disease, ch.2.7,8.

(c) The blasphemous advice of his wife, and the triumphant submission of Job, ch.2.9,10.

Scene IV. The arrival of Job's three friends, and the seven days silent sympathy, ch.2.11-13.

Scene V. Job's patience being exhausted, he utters his complaint, ch.3.

Scene VI. The long and fruitless discussions between Job and his three friends concerning his afflictions.

His friends maintain that suffering is the result of personal sin.

Job defends himself and asserts his innocence, chs.4-31.

Scene VII. Elihu enters into the discussion, chs.32-37.

Scene VIII. The Lord answers Job out of the whirlwind with words of enlightenment and reproof, chs.38-39.

Scene IX. Job's confession, ch.40.3-5.

Scene X. The Lord speaks the second time, ch.40.7—ch.41.

Scene XI.

(a) Job's second confession, ch.42.1-6.

(b) The Lord's rebuke of Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar for their foolish words, and a command for them to offer sacrifices, ch.42.7-9.

Scene XII. Job prays for his friends, his own prosperity is restored, and he lives to a great age, ch.42.10-17.

SUGGESTED LESSONS.

(1) The malignant power of Satan in human life.

(2) The use of suffering in the divine plan as a means of perfecting character.

CHOICE SELECTION, Job's discourse on wisdom, ch.28.

4241—The Book of Psalms

One hundred and fifty spiritual songs and poems used by the church in all ages in worship and devotional exercises. It was used as the hymn-book of the second temple.

The Predominant Themes are Prayer and Praise, but the Psalms cover a great variety of religious experiences.

They are quoted more frequently in the New Testament than any other book, except Isaiah.

They are often called The Psalms of David because he was the author of a large number of them.

AUTHORSHIP. The authorship of many is uncertain; it is probable that in some cases the name affixed to certain psalms may refer to the collector, rather than the author.

The following is a conjectural list of authors taken from the various versions of the Scriptures.

Attributed to David, 73; to Sons of Korah, 11; to Asaph, 12; to Heman, 1; to Ethan, 1; to Solomon, 2; to Moses, 1; to Haggai, 1; to Zechariah, 1; to Hezekiah, number doubtful; to Ezra, 1; the remainder anonymous.

MESSIANIC PSALMS.

The following are some of the psalms which are regarded as containing direct, or typical, references to Christ:

(1) Christ, as King, Ps.2; 45; 72; 110; 132, v.11.

(2) The Sufferings of, Ps.22; 41; 55.12-14; 69.20-21.

(3) The Resurrection of, Ps.16.

(4) The Ascension of, Ps.68.18.

TOPICAL ARRANGEMENT.

Each psalm is arranged under some topic which appears prominently in it.

Women, good, ch.5.18,19; 31.10-31.

SPIRITUAL LESSON

Solomon was a guide-post, rather than an example. He pointed the way to Wisdom, but the latter part of his life he did not walk in hence his son, Rehoboam, followed his example rather than his counsels, and became a fool and evil ruler.

4243—The Book of Ecclesiastes

NAME, borrowed from the Septuagint. In the Hebrew Bible it is called "Kohleleth." The meaning of this word is somewhat disputed, but it is rendered in the English version Preacher, or one who addresses an assembly.

AUTHORSHIP doubtful, but is commonly ascribed to Solomon, ch.1.1,2.

Many of the experiences related seem to correspond to those likely to have happened in his judging from the bare outline of his history found in the Bible.

Y VERSE, ch.12.13.

INTENTS.

The book contains the reflections and experiences of a philosopher whose mind was in contact over the problems of life.

After speaking of the disillusionments that had come to him, he presents the view of the Epicurean materialist, that there is nothing better than the carnal enjoyment of the pleasures of life. As this idea reappears all through the book, it is quite evident that the writer was struggling with it, while at the same time he was uttering profound truths concerning man's duty and obligations to God.

At last he seems to emerge from his speculations and doubts, and reaches the noble conclusion in chapter 12.13, "Fear God and keep his commandments; for this is the whole duty of man."

SYNOPSIS.

chs.1,2.

(1) Introduction. Reflections on the monotonous round of life, ch.1.1-11.

4244—The Song of Solomon

AUTHOR, Solomon, according to tradition.

This book has been severely criticised because of its amorous language.

Its right to a place in the Bible has been defended by many saintly souls in all ages. They have regarded it as a Spiritual Allegory, representing the holy affections existing between God and his Chosen People, or Christ and his church.

IT IS AN ORIENTAL POEM, the ardent expressions of which can only be properly interpreted by a mature spiritual mind.

SYNOPSIS (the Bridegroom representing Christ,—the bride, the church).

(1) Spiritual communion between the Bride and the heavenly Bridegroom, ch.1.1-2.7.

(2) The Bride misses her companion and seeks him, ch.2.8-3.5.

(3) The ardent discourses of the Bride and Bridegroom on their mutual love and the graces of each other, ch.3.6-8.14.

KEY THOUGHT, "My beloved," the believer's title for Christ, ch.2.16.

COMPANION PASSAGE, the forty-fifth Psalm.

SIDE LIGHTS.

4245—The Book of Isaiah

THE PROPHET,

The son of Amos.

Prophesied during the reigns of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, ch.1.1.

His call and anointing, ch.6.1-8.

His family, ch.7.3; 8.3,4.

GENERALLY REGARDED AS THE GREATEST of the Old Testament Prophets.

- (1) Because he is preëminently the Prophet of Redemption.
- (2) Many of the passages in his book are among the finest in literature.

Some modern scholars have studied this poetical prophecy as a botanist studies flowers, dissecting and analyzing them.

By the use of this scientific method the beauty and unity of the book, like that of the rose, is almost forgotten as the different parts are pulled to pieces for examination.

SYNOPSIS.

SECTION I, chs.1-39, Refers chiefly to events leading up to the Captivity.

- (a) Exhortations and warnings of Divine Judgments, mingled with predictions of better days and the coming of the Messiah, chs. 1-12.

4249—The Book of Daniel

A COMPANION TO THE BOOK OF REVELATION

AUTHOR, like Ezekiel, a captive in Babylon. He was brought before King Nebuchadnezzar while young, and trained in the Chaldean language and sciences, ch.1.17,18. See No. 4300.

CAREER OF, Resembled that of Joseph;—Promoted to the highest office in the realm (ch.2.48), he maintained his spiritual life in the midst of a heathen court, ch.6.10.

MAIN THEME, The Sovereignty of God over the affairs of men in all ages. The pagan king's confessions of this fact constitute the Key Verses of this book, ch.2.47; 4.37; 6.26.

SECTION I. Largely a Narrative of Personal Biography and Local History. It contains an account of thrilling events and divine interpositions unsurpassed in the Old Testament. It refers to six moral conflicts in which Daniel and his companions participated.

First Conflict. Between pagan Self-indulgence, and conscientious Abstinence, in promoting health.

Abstinence wins, ch.1.8-15.

Second Conflict. Between pagan Magic and heavenly Wisdom in the interpretation of dreams.

Divine Wisdom wins, ch.2.1-47.

Third Conflict. Heathen Idolatry arrayed against Loyalty to God.

Loyalty to God wins, ch.3.1-30.

Fourth Conflict. A pagan king's Pride arrayed against Divine Sovereignty.

God wins,—the king turned out to eat grass, ch.4.4-37.

Fifth Conflict. Impious Sacrilege arrayed against Reverence for Sacred Objects.

Reverence wins,—the Handwriting on the Wall. Belshazzar dethroned, ch.5.1-30.

Sixth Conflict. Between Malicious Plotting and the Providence of God over his Saints.

Providence wins. The Lions' mouths stopped, ch.6.1-28.

SECTION II. Visions and Prophecies relating to the controlling hand of God moving the scenes in the Panorama of History, chs.7-12.

INTERPRETATION. The Book of Daniel is a companion to the Book of Revelation; both contain much imagery which is mysterious.

The attempt to fit the prophecies of Daniel and Revelation into the facts and events of human history has produced an endless conflict of opinions.

The true interpretation of the details of the visions is not always clear.

Two Facts are generally acknowledged by candid scholars—

(1) That the prophecies represent a partly veiled Revelation of Future Events in secular and sacred history.

(2) That the visions point to the ultimate triumph of God's Kingdom over all Satanic and World Powers.

In Chapter Seven many commentators see the Four Beasts as representing the Four great Empires,—Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece and Rome (vers. 1-7), followed by a vision of the Coming Messiah.

In Chapter Eight another period of Medo-Persian and Grecian history appears under the figure of a Beast.

Chapter Nine contains Daniel's prayer and a veiled prophecy of the time of the Coming of the Messiah.

Chapters Ten to Twelve contain additional far-reaching predictions and revelations of future events.

These three chapters have been the battle ground of theological controversy with many varied interpretations.

CHOICE SELECTIONS.

- (1) The Purpose of Daniel, ch.1.8.
- (2) The Stone out of the Mountain, ch.2.44-45.
- (3) The Answer of the Three Hebrew Captives, ch.3.16-18.
- (4) The Feast of Belshazzar, ch.5.
- (5) Daniel in the Lions' Den, ch.6.1-24.
- (6) The Vision of the Judgment, ch.7.9-14.
- (7) The Soul-winner's Promise, ch.12.3.

4250—The Book of Hosea

AUTHOR, Hosea, the son of Beeri, ch.1.1.

A contemporary of Isaiah and Micah.

His Message was addressed to the Northern Kingdom.

SPECIAL FITNESS FOR HIS TASK.

(1) He is supposed to have been a native of the North, and was familiar with the evil conditions existing in Israel. This gave a special weight to his message.

(2) It would appear from the narrative that he married a wife who proved to be unchaste. This statement is doubted by some scholars, but if true would have enabled him to vividly portray God's attitude toward Israel and his adulterous spouse, ch.1.2-3; 2.1-5.

But the style of the book is highly figurative, and it may be that this account of his experience with his wife was allegorical.

SPIRITUAL MESSAGE.

Apostasy from God is Spiritual Adultery.

(a) God, the Husband, ch.2.20; Is.54.5.

(b) Israel, the unchaste Wife, ch.2.2.

SYNOPSIS.

SECTION I. Israel's Apostasy symbolized the experience of the prophet in his marriage, chs.1-3.

SECTION II. Prophetic Discourses, chiefly descriptions of the backsliding and idolatry of the people, mingled with threatenings and exhortations, chs.4-13.

The formal call to repentance, and promise of future blessings, ch.14.

ILLUSTRATIONS OF THE HIGHLY FIGURATIVE LANGUAGE used to express the evil conditions in Israel,

(1) The Valley of Achor, for a door of Hope, ch.2.15. See Jos.7.24-26.

(2) "Joined to idols," ch.4.17.

(3) "Mixed among the people" (no longer separated and holy nation), ch.7.8.

(4) "A cake not turned" (dough on one side expressing half-heartedness), ch.7.8.

(5) "Strangers have devoured his strength" (weakened by evil associations), ch.7.9.

(6) "Grey hairs are here and there upon him" (premature old age, and unconscious deterioration), ch.7.9.

(7) "Israel swallowed up" (national identity lost), ch.8.8.

(8) "A vessel wherein there is no pleasure" (a marred and useless vessel unto the Lord), ch.8.8.

(9) "The balances of deceit" (commercial trickery in business), ch.12.7.

CHOICE SELECTION,

Penitence, and its blessings, ch.14.

4251—The Book of Joel

AUTHOR, Joel, a prophet of Judah. Very little known concerning, ch.1.1.

NAME. Means "Jehovah is God."

DATE. Uncertain.

STYLE. Lofty; the book is forcefully and elegantly written.

KEY THOUGHT, National repentance and its blessings.

CASION, The visitation of a plague of locusts and a severe drought, regarded as punishments for the sins of the people. The former prophetic coming invasions of the armies of Judah's enemies.

KEY PHRASE, "The Day of the Lord," ch.1.15; 1.11,31; 3.14.

THE DAY OF THE LORD.

- (a) In nature, copious rains will insure plentiful harvests, ch.2.23,24.
- (b) The outpouring of the Holy Spirit will usher in a great revival, ch.2.28-32. See Acts, ch.2.

(5) In the Valley of Decision.

- (a) The Gentile nations will be judged, ch.3.1-16.
- (b) Zion shall receive a glorious blessing, ch.3.17-21.

CHOICE SELECTIONS.

Whole-hearted penitence, ch.2.12-17.

Promises of the Pentecostal outpouring of the latter days, ch.2.28-32.

4252—The Book of Amos

THE WRITER.

His name means "Burden," or "burden-bearer." citizen of Tekoa, in the tribe of Judah.

Herdsman and dresser of sycamore trees (R. V.), ch.7.14.

His call, ch.7.15.

His attempt to silence him, ch.7.10-13.

TEXT. Prophesied during the reigns of Jeroboam in Israel, and Uzziah in Judah.

STYLE, simple but picturesque.

The book abounds in striking metaphors.

Illustrations,

- (a) The straining of God's mercy by sinners compared to the overloading of a wagon, ch.2.13.
- (b) The pressure of duty upon the prophet compared to the roaring of a lion in his ears, ch.3.8.

- (6) The visions interrupted by an attempt to intimidate the prophet, ch.7.10-13.
- (7) The prediction of the dispersion and restoration of Israel, ch.9.9-15.

4253—The Book of Obadiah

AUTHOR, nothing is known concerning.

THE PROPHECY centers around an ancient feud between Edom and Israel.

The Edomites were descendants of Esau, and had a grudge against Israel because Jacob had cheated their ancestor out of his birthright, Ge.25.21-34; 27.41.

KEY THOUGHT, verse 10.

The Edomites refused Israel a passage through their country, Num.20.14-21. They rejoiced over the capture of Jerusalem, Ps.137.7.

SYNOPSIS.

The Doom of Edom for their pride and wrong unto Jacob, vs.1-16.

The Deliverance of the Chosen People, and the inclusion of Edom in the future kingdom, vs.17-21; Nu.24.18.

SPIRITUAL LESSON.

God's special providential care over the Jews, and the certainty of punishment upon those who persecute them.

4254—The Book of Jonah

JONAH, a native of Galilee, one of the earlier prophets, 2 Ki.14.25.

Called to go as a missionary to Nineveh, and warn the enemies of his country, he went with great reluctance. See Text Cyclo. No. 1909.

This narrative has been ridiculed as a myth by unbelievers, and is regarded by some scholars as a legend, or parable.

The Jews accepted it as historical, see Antiq. IX.10.2.

Jesus Christ vouched for its truth, Mt.12.39-41; Lu.11.29,30.

THE CHARACTER OF JONAH. See Text Cyclo. No. 1909.

- (1) "Sanctified in spots," a strange mixture of strength and weakness.
- (2) Self-willed, ch.1.1-3.
- (3) Godly, ch.1.9.
- (4) Courageous, ch.1.12.
- (5) Prayerful, ch.2.1-9.
- (6) Obedient after chastisement, ch.3.3,4.
- (7) Bigoted and selfish, disappointed when the Ninevites repented, ch.3.4-10; 4.1.
- (8) Had too much concern for his own reputation, ch.4.2,3.

SYNOPSIS.

- Ch.1, The Divine command evaded; the flight and punishment of the prophet.
 Ch.2, The Prayer and the Deliverance.
 Ch.3, The Second Commission Obeyed.
 Ch.4, The Childish Complaint of the prophet; the great exhibition of Divine Mercy, coupled with the rebuke to the prophet.

SPIRITUAL LESSONS.

- (1) The peril of running away from duty.
- (2) The temptation to selfish patriotism and religious bigotry.
- (3) The Divine employment of imperfect men as channels of Truth.
- (4) The Wideness of God's Mercy.

4255—The Book of Micah

AUTHOR, Micah, a native of Moresheth, in Judah. He prophesied during the reigns of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah;—was a contemporary of Isaiah, ch.1.1.

His name means, "Who is like Jehovah." He belonged to the territory of Judah, but spoke to both Judah and Israel.

His anointing, ch.3.8.

SYNOPSIS.

I. General Divisions.

Chs.1-3, Chiefly threatenings of coming judgments.

Chs.4,5, Prophetic promises of deliverance.

Chs.6,7, Mainly Exhortations and confessions of National Sins, coupled with promises of restoration.

II. Particular Sins Condemned.

- (a) Idolatry, ch.1.7; 5.13.
- (b) Evil plans and devices, ch.2.1.
- (c) Covetousness, ch.2.2.
- (d) Rapacity of princes, prophets and priests, ch.3.2-11.
- (e) Witchcraft, ch.5.12.
- (f) Dishonesty, ch.6.10-12.

 God's disposal of the Sins of Believers, ch.7.18-19.

4256—The Book of Nahum

AUTHOR, little known concerning.

Name means "compassionate," or "full of comfort."

DATE. Some time before the Fall of Nineveh.

MAIN THEME, the Destruction of Nineveh.

HISTORICAL SETTING. This book is regarded by some scholars as a sequel to Jonah.

It would appear that the Assyrians, after their repentance at the preaching of Jonah, soon relapsed into gross idolatry.

They plundered other nations, and their capital became like a lions' den full of prey, ch.2.11,12.

THE PURPOSE of the book was to pronounce Divine Vengeance upon the bloody city, and to console Judah with promises of future deliverance, ch.3.1; 1.13-15.

SYNOPSIS.

Ch.1, A vision of the majesty and invincible power of Jehovah, who will break the yoke of the Assyrians and deliver Judah.

Ch.2, A dramatic description of the Siege of Nineveh.

Ch.3, A woe pronounced upon the bloody city and her complete ruin foretold.

NOTE.—Some expositors have seen in ch.2.4 allusion to the modern automobile, but this is a fetched interpretation.

4257—The Book of Habakkuk

AUTHOR. Some have inferred from his Psalm chapter 3, and the direction to the chief musician that he was a chorister in the temple; but this is purely conjectural.

DATE uncertain. The prophet evidently lived in the Chaldean period. Many scholars fix the time of the prophecy during the reign of Jehoiakim.

MAIN THEME, The Mysteries of Providence.

KEY VERSE, ch.1.3.

SYNOPSIS.

The book opens with the prophet in perplexity over the mystery of unpunished evil in the world.

The first two chapters are mainly composed of dialogue between Habakkuk and Jehovah.

(1) The prophet complains to God that he sees sinful violence on every hand, yet punishment is visited upon the evildoers, ch.1.1-4.

(2) He receives a reply revealing the divine plan of using the Chaldeans as a swift and terrible instrument of judgment upon wicked nations, ch.1.5-11.

Still the moral problem is unanswered in the mind of the prophet.

How can a holy God use these wicked heathen to waste and destroy people more righteous than they? Are wrong and violence to continue forever? ch.1.12-17.

The prophet ascends his watch-tower to look over the world.

He receives the reply of Jehovah, and is told the Purpose of God is soon to be fulfilled, and is encouraged to wait for it, ch. 2.1-3.

Then follows the sentence that has been a watchword in the Christian church, ch.2.4.

Content with the new light received, the prophet utters a series of five woes against the dishonesty (ch.2.6); the covetousness (ch. 2.9); the bloody building enterprises (ch.2.12); the debauchery (ch.2.15), and the idolatry (ch. 2.18-20) of the great world-power.

Finally he utters a sublime prayer (or psalm of praise), speaking of the majesty and glory of Jehovah and declaring his unwavering trust in the divine plans, ch.3.1-19.

TABLE PASSAGES.

h.2.4, The Morning Star of the Reformation, Ro.1.17; He.10.38.

h.2.14, The Triumph of Missions.

h.2.15, The Woe to the Drunkard-maker.

h.3.17,18, An All-conquering Faith.

58—The Book of Zephaniah

ITER, evidently a direct descendant of King Ezekiah, ch.1.1.

He prophesied during the reign of Josiah, King of Judah, ch.1.1.

It is thought he uttered his prophecy near the beginning of Josiah's reign, before the religious revival which swept over the kingdom at that period. See 2 Kings, chs.22,23.

Tradition says that Zephaniah was associated with Huldah, the Prophetess, and Jeremiah in the initiation of the reformation of the kingdom.

IN THEME, The Searching Judgments of God.

Y TEXT, ch.1.12.

NTENTS. The book is exceedingly somber in its tone, and is filled with threatenings and denunciations; but the sun breaks through the clouds in the last chapter, and the prophet foretells the coming of a glad day, when the Hebrews shall receive a praise among all the people of the earth.

WOPSIS. The announcement of coming judgments upon Judah, ch.1.

The Call to Repentance, ch.2.1-3.

Judgments threatened upon surrounding nations, ch.2.4-15.

A woe pronounced upon the sinners of Jerusalem because of their corruption and spiritual blindness in continuing in wickedness, in spite of all the judgments meted out to the heathen nations, ch.3.1-8.

A universal judgment foretold, which only a godly remnant should escape, ch.3.8-13.

The future glory of Israel, when Jehovah shall deliver his people, and cause them to become famous throughout the earth, ch. 3.14-20.

4259—The Book of Haggai

"THE PROPHET OF THE TEMPLE" was reputed to have been born during the seventy years' captivity in Babylon, and to have returned to Jerusalem with Zerubbabel.

He was a colleague of Zechariah, Ezr.5.1; 6.14.

MAIN THEME. Sharp rebukes for the neglect to rebuild the temple, coupled with cheering exhortations and promises to those undertaking the work.

KEY VERSE, ch.2.4.

HISTORICAL OCCASION.

The remnant that had returned from captivity were selfishly pre-occupied with their own affairs, and were more concerned in beautifying their own dwellings than in rebuilding the Lord's house.

The work had ceased for years, ch.1.4.

THE MESSAGE.

(1) A cutting reproof, showing that God had withheld his natural blessings, because his temple was left in ruins, ch.1.3-11.

(2) Words of encouragement as the work of rebuilding the temple was resumed, ch.1.12-15.

(3) Inspiring promises to the older people who had seen Solomon's Temple, and were discouraged at the inferiority of the structure they were able to build, ch.2.3.

They were told of a coming manifestation of divine power and the appearing of the Messiah when the glory of the Lord would fill the house, ch.2.7-9.

(4) A reminder of their unworthiness to erect a house for the Lord of Hosts, ch.2.10-14.

(5) Predictions of the doom of the heathen nations, and words of commendation for Zerubbabel, as God's chosen instrument, ch.2.20-23.

CHOICE SELECTIONS, ch.2.4-9.

Divine Presence, strengthening, v.4.

— Power, moving, v.6.

— Glory, filling, v.7.

— Peace, coming, v.9.

4260—The Book of Zechariah

AUTHOR, the son of Berechiah, ch.1.1.

Little is definitely known concerning this prophet.

He was a contemporary of Haggai, and joined him in arousing the Jews to rebuild the Temple at Jerusalem, Ezr. 6.14.

Evidently he was a young man at the time of his prophecy, ch.2.4.

In the Septuagint version several psalms are accredited to Zechariah and Haggai.

DATE, Two months after Haggai's prophecy (compare Hag.1.1 and Zech.1.1).

STYLE, Highly Figurative.

THE PROPHET OF THE LONG VISION.

Like Haggai, he saw the sinful condition and religious indifference of his people, and uttered stirring exhortations which aided in the rebuilding of the temple.

But his prophecy had a broader scope—he looked down the ages and beheld the coming of the Messiah King and the dawning of a brighter day for Zion.

KEY VERSES, ch.1.3; 4.6.

FUTURE HOPE, "At eveningtime it shall be light," ch.14.7.

SYNOPSIS.

Opening Exhortation, ch.1.1-6.

Section I. A series of Eight Visions.

- (1) The Man among the Myrtle Trees, and the Drove of Horses, ch.1.7-17.
- (2) The Four Horns and the Four Carpenters (Four Smiths, R. V.), ch.1.18-21.
- (3) The Man with the Measuring Line, ch.2.
- (4) The Cleansing of the High Priest, ch.3.
- (5) The Golden Candlestick, and the Two Olive Trees, ch.4.
- (6) The Flying Roll, ch.5.1-4.
- (7) The Woman in the Epha, ch.5.5-11.
- (8) The Four Chariots, ch.6.1-8; and the Crowning of the High Priest, ch.6.10-15.

Section II.

The answer to the deputation from Bethel (R. V.) concerning the fasts. In the end the fasts shall become festivals, chs.7,8.

Section III.

Predictions concerning a period of the History of the Jews, and a vision of the Ultimate Triumph of God's Kingdom, chs.9-14.

MESSIANIC ELEMENT.

The Kingly Messiah.

- (a) First coming in lowliness, ch.9.9.
- (b) The Prince of Peace, ch.9.10.
- (c) Crucified, ch.12.10.
- (d) A Shepherd forsaken by his sheep, ch.13.7.

CHOICE SELECTIONS.

- (1) The Secret of Success in spiritual enterprises, ch.4.6-10.
- (2) The Coming of the Prince of Peace, ch.9.9,10.
- (3) The Fountain of Cleansing, ch.13.1.

4261—The Book of Malachi

WRITER. Nothing is known of the prophet's life except what is found in his book.

He was probably a contemporary of Nehemiah; the conditions described in the prophecy best answer to that time.

STYLE, Forceful and Peculiar. Jehovah is represented as having a dialogue with his people.

"Ye say" is contrasted with "Thus saith Jehovah of hosts" through the first three chapters.

THEME. A graphic picture of the closing period of Old Testament history, showing that great reforms were needed to prepare the way for the coming Messiah.

KEY TEXT, ch.3.8.

SYNOPSIS.

I. DARK SIDE OF THE PICTURE. The sins of a dishonest, ungrateful people, and an unfaithful priesthood.

(1) Robbing God.

- (a) By failure to respond to Divine Love, ch.1.2.
- (b) By dishonoring God's Name, ch.1.6.
- (c) By presenting blemished offerings, ch.1.7,8,13,14.
- (d) The priests, by evil example, becoming stumbling-blocks, instead of spiritual leaders, ch.2.1-8.
- (e) By honoring sinners, ch.2.17; 3.15

(f) By selfishly withholding tithes, ch.3.

(g) By justifying impiety, ch.3.14.

- (b) Inter-marriage with the heathen, ch.2.11.
- (c) Divorcing wives, ch.2.14-16.
- (d) Sorcery, impurity, oppression, ch.3.5.

II. THE LIGHT SIDE OF THE PICTURE.

Glorious Promises.

- (1) Of the coming of the Messenger of the Covenant, ch.3.1-4.
- (2) Of the outpouring of a Great Blessing, ch.3.10-12.
- (3) Of the saints becoming Jehovah's peculiar Treasure, ch.3.16-18.
- (4) Of the dawning of a New Day in which righteousness shall triumph, ch.4.2,3.
- (5) Of the appearance of a Spiritual Reform before the Day of the Lord is ushered in, ch.4.5,6.

CHOICE SELECTIONS.

Ch.3, The Purifying Messenger of the Covenant, vs.1-4.

Ch.3, The Cataract of Blessing, v.10.

Ch.3, God's Jewels, vs.16,17.

4262—The Gospel of Matthew

AUTHOR, Matthew (also called Levi), one of the twelve apostles, Mk.2.14.

Undoubtedly a Jew who was a publican, Roman tax collector, ch.10.3.

When called by Jesus he left all and followed him, Lu.5.27,28.

He made a great feast for Christ, who attended it despite the fact that the publicans belonged to a despised class, Lu.5.29.

TO WHOM ADDRESSED—Primarily to the Jews. This view is confirmed by the fact that there are about sixty references to the Jewish prophecies and about forty quotations from the Old Testament.

Christ's mission to the Jews is especially emphasized, ch.10.5,6; 15.24.

KEY WORDS. Fulfilled, which is frequently repeated to indicate that the Old Testament prophecies were fulfilled in Christ.

The word Kingdom, which appears fifty times and the Kingdom of Heaven thirty times. K Jesus as, ch.2.2; 21.5; 22.11; 25.34; 27.11,37,42.

APPARENT PURPOSE, To show that Jesus Nazareth was the Kingly Messiah of Jewish prophecy.

4263—The Gospel of Mark

THOR, Mark, the son of Mary of Jerusalem, c.12.12.

Referred to as John Mark, in Ac. 12.25.

A relative of Barnabas, Col.4.10.

Associated with Paul and Barnabas on their first Missionary Journey, Ac.12.25; 13.5.

Temporarily alienated from Paul, Ac.13.13; 15.39.

Afterwards restored to his friendship, II Tim. 4.11.

Ancient tradition certifies that Mark was a companion of Peter. The book is called Peter's Gospel by some very ancient writers.

It is generally conceded that Peter may have furnished, or suggested, much of the material found in the book.

TO WHOM ADDRESSED. It is thought that the writer had in mind the Roman or Gentile Christians in his preparation of the book.

That it was not especially adapted to Jewish readers seems clear from the fact that it contains few references to Old Testament prophecy.

Furthermore, the explanation of Jewish words and customs would indicate that the author had foreigners in mind when he wrote. See ch.3.17; 5.41; 7.1-4, 11,34.

MAIN THEME, "Christ, the Tireless Servant of God and Man."

The life of Jesus is portrayed as crowded with benevolent deeds.

His devotions interrupted, ch.1.35-37. No time to eat, ch.3.20. Yielding to such perpetual calls for service that his friends said he was unbalanced, ch.3.21. Pursued when he sought rest, ch.6.31-34.

KEY WORD, "Straightway," indicating immediate action, repeated throughout the entire book.

DISTINCTIVE FEATURES. It is the shortest of the four Gospels.

The style is vivid and picturesque. Much of the subject matter is found also in Matthew and Luke, but it is not a mere repetition, for it contains many details not found in either of the others.

The Gospel of Mark opens, like that of John, with a declaration of the divinity of Jesus Christ, but unlike John he does not enlarge upon the doctrine.

However, a careful study of the book reveals the fact that the aim of the author is to let the wonderful works of Jesus testify to his deity, rather than frequent statements of the writer.

Many personal touches are found in this gospel, as "was with the wild beasts," ch.1.13; "He surnamed them Boanerges," ch.3.17; "Jesus was much displeased," ch.10.14; "They were amazed; and as they followed, they were afraid," ch.10.32; "The common people heard him gladly," ch.12.37;—"Is not this the carpenter?" ch.6.3, &c., &c.

Although emphasizing Christ's divine power, the author often alludes to his human feelings;—his disappointment, ch.3.5;—his weariness, ch.4.38;—his wonder, ch.6.6;—his sighs, ch.7.34; 8.12;—his affection, ch.10.21.

Matthew harks back to the past, and deals largely with the prophecies for the sake of Jewish readers, and also gives much space to the discourses of our Lord.

Mark is more condensed; has little to say concerning prophecy; gives only a brief report of the discourses, but lays great stress upon the mighty works of Jesus.

Nineteen miracles are recorded in this short book which demonstrate the supernatural power of the Master.

Eight, which prove his power over disease ch.1.31,41; 2.3-12; 3.1-5; 5.25; 7.32; 8.23; 10.46.

Five, showing his power over nature, ch.4.39; 6.41,49; 8.8,9; 11.13,14.

Four, demonstrating his authority over demons, ch.1.25; 5.1-13; 7.25-30; 9.26.

Two show his conquest over death, ch.5.42; 16.9.

SYNOPSIS. The book may be divided into six parts—

Part I, The Introductory and Preliminary Events leading up to the Public Ministry of Christ, ch.1.1-13.

In this first chapter Mark plunges abruptly into his subject, and pours forth a torrent of description in the first thirteen verses.

He opens with the announcement that Jesus is the Son of God, v.1.

He then dwells upon the five preparatory steps for his work,

- (1), The coming of his herald, vs.2-8.
- (2), His baptism with water, v.9.
- (3), His endowment with the Holy Spirit, v.10.
- (4), The divine witness to his Sonship, v.11.
- (5), His conflict with his arch enemy, vs.12. 13.

Part II. The Early Galilean Ministry, ch.1.14—ch.7.23.

(Mark omits entirely the early Judæan Ministry, see John, ch.2.13—ch.4.2).

Part III. The tour to Tyre and Sidon, ch.7.24-30.

Part IV. Christ's teaching and work in Northern Galilee, ch.7.31—ch.9.50.

Part V. The closing Ministry in Perea, and the journey toward Jerusalem, ch.10.1-52.

Part VI. The events of Passion Week, ch.11.—ch.16.8.

4264—The Gospel of Luke

WRITER, Luke, the beloved physician, see Col. 4.14. Reputed author of Acts; both books being addressed to the same person.

Luke was a close friend and travelling companion of Paul, as is shown in his personal allusions recording the journeys of the apostle. See in the book of Acts where the author changes the pronouns to "we" and "us," indicating that he himself was present at these times, Ac.16,10; 20.6; 27.1; 28.16.

Many students see something of the stamp of Paul's doctrine in Luke's gospel. The exact date of the writing of the gospel is unknown. But if it were written after Luke came under Paul's influence, it would be quite natural that the latter should give some coloring to the narrative.

TO WHOM ADDRESSED. To Theophilus, an unknown person. Internal evidence indicates that the book was written especially for the Gentiles. This is inferred from the fact that the writer takes pains to explain Jewish customs and sometimes substitutes Greek names for Hebrew.

PURPOSE. To give a connected and orderly narrative of the life of Christ as seen by eye witnesses, ch.1.1-4.

KEY VERSE, ch.1.4.

DISTINCTIVE FEATURES.

- (1) It is a Gospel of the Universal Grace of God, ch.2.32; 3.6; 24.47.
- (2) It is the Gospel of "The Son of Man." It emphasizes Christ's sympathetic attitude toward the poor, the lowly, and the outcasts. The poor disciples, ch.6.20; the sinful woman, ch.7.37; Mary Magdalene, ch.8.2; the Samaritans, ch.10.33; publicans and sinners, ch.15.1; the deserted beggar, ch.10.20,21; the lepers, ch.17.12; the dying thief, ch.23.43, etc.

(3) It is a Devotional Gospel; it especially emphasizes prayer.

(a) It contains three parables on prayer not found in the other gospels. The friend at midnight, ch.11.5-8; the Pharisee and publican, ch.18.9-14.

(b) It contains Christ's prayers,—at baptism, ch.3.21; in the wilderness, ch.5.16; before choosing the disciples, ch.6.12; at the transfiguration, ch.9.29; before giving the Lord's Prayer, ch.11.1; for Peter, ch.22.32; in the garden of Gethsemane, ch.22.44; on the cross, ch.23.46; etc.

(4) In its early chapters it strikes the note of joy and praise.

Some of the great Christian hymns taken from this gospel. "The Ave Maria," the words of the Angel to Mary, ch.1.28—"The Magnificat," Mary's song, ch.1.45-55; "The Benedictus," of Zacharias, ch.68-79; "The Gloria in Excelsis," of the heavenly angels, ch.2.13-14; "The Nunc Dimittis," the rejoicing of Simeon, ch.29-32.

(5) It greatly honors womanhood. Women appear prominently in Luke's narrative.

In chapter one, Mary, Elisabeth; Mary and her sister Martha in chapter ten; the daughters of Jerusalem, ch.23.27. Several widows are mentioned, ch.2.37; 4.7.12; 18.3; 21.2.

(6) The Biography of Christ is more complete in Luke than in either of the other gospels. About one half the material in this book is not in the others. Many of the most important utterances of our Lord, and striking incidents of his life are recorded in one gospel.

Examples of this are,—The draught of fishes, ch.5.6; raising the widow's son, ch.7.11-15; the ten lepers, ch.17.12; Malchus healed, ch.22.51.

For the parables which occur only in Luke see Text Cyclo. No. 2679.

Other incidents and sayings recorded only by Luke,—Christ weeping over Jerusalem, ch.19.41; reference to the conversation of Moses and Elias on the Mount of Transfiguration, ch.9.30,31; the bloody sweat, ch.22.44; Christ before Herod, ch.23.8; Christ's words to the women of Jerusalem, ch.23.29; the penitent thief, ch.23.40; the walk to Emmaus, ch.24.13-31.

SYNOPSIS.

- (1) The introduction, ch.1.1-4. The birth of Jesus and incidents connected with his early life up to the time of his baptism and temptation, ch.1.5—ch.4.13.
- (2) The beginning of his public ministry, mainly in Galilee, ch.4.14—ch.9.50.

The journey toward Jerusalem, through Samaria and Perea; the ministry mainly in Perea, ch.9.51—ch.19.28.

The last days, including the events of Passion Week and the crucifixion, ch.19.29—ch.23.55.

Events connected with the Resurrection and the Ascension, ch.24.1—51.

5—The Gospel of John

WRITER, The Apostle John, see Text Cyclo. No. 2216.

DATE uncertain. Probably late in the first century.

MAIN PURPOSE, To inspire faith in Jesus Christ as the Son of God.

VERSE, ch.20.31.

CHARACTERISTIC FEATURES.

It is considered by many to be the deepest and most spiritual book in the Bible.

In it Christ gives a more complete revelation of himself, and of God, than in either of the Synoptic Gospels.

(a) Of his person and attributes. See the "I am's" of Christ, Bible Readings, No. 4166.

(b) Of his Divinity, ch.1.1; 10.30—38; 12.45; 14.7—9; 16.15.

(c) Of the work of the Holy Spirit. See 6's, 7's, 8's of the Holy Spirit, No. 4165.

(d) Of his own divine commission. For example, in the fifth chapter he declares himself to be sent from God six times consecutively, in verses 23, 24, 30, 36, 37, 38.

(e) Of the Fatherhood of God. Christ speaks of God as "The Father" over one hundred times.

God is the spiritual Father, ch.4.23; he is the life-giving Father, ch.5.21; the message is the Father's, ch.7.16; the Father is greater than all, ch.10.29; the works are the Father's, ch.14.10; God is the Indwelling Father, ch.14.23; the Eternal Father, ch.17.5; the Holy Father, ch.17.11; the Righteous Father, ch.17.25, etc.

Perhaps the most notable of all the peculiarities of this gospel is the fact that over one half of the space in the book is given to the events of Christ's life, and his sayings during his last days.

Discourses and conversations found only in John;—the talk with Nicodemus, ch.3.1—21; with the woman of Samaria, ch.4.1—26.

The discourse to the Jews at the Feast of Tabernacles, ch.7.14—39; 8.3—58; the parable of The Good Shepherd, ch.10.

The series of private instructions to the disciples, his comforting words and intercessory prayer, chs.14—17.

His meeting with the disciples at the Sea of Galilee, ch.21, etc.

John records eight miracles of Christ (beside his own resurrection) to prove his divinity. Six of these are found only in this gospel:

The water made wine, ch.2.1—11; healing the nobleman's son, ch.4.46—54; healing the man at the pool, ch.5.1—9; the man born blind, ch.9.1—7; the raising of Lazarus, ch.11; the second draught of fishes, ch.21.1—6.

(6) There are two great currents of thought flowing through the book which it is profitable to follow—

(a) Faith, ch.3.16—18; 5.24; 6.29,40; 7.38; 8.24; 10.37,38; 11.25—27; 12.46; 14.12.

(b) Eternal life, ch.3.15,16,36; 4.14; 5.24; 6.27,51; 11.26; 12.50; 17.3; 20.31.

SYNOPSIS. The book may be divided into five parts;—

(1) The Prologue. The Eternal Word incarnate, ch.1.1—18.

(2) The Manifestation of Christ's Divinity to the world accompanied by a six-fold testimony. That of John the Baptist, the Holy Spirit, the disciples, Christ's mighty works, that of The Father, and the Scriptures, chs.1.19—12.50.

(3) The Private Revelation and instruction to the disciples, chs.13—17.

(4) His Humiliation and Triumph over Death, chs.18—20.

(5) The Epilogue, ch.21.1—23.

4266—The Acts of the Apostles

(See the Tree of Paul's Life, No. 4309.)

WRITER, Luke, the beloved physician, No. 2216.

The book is in some sense a sequel to the Gospel of Luke, and is addressed to the same unknown person, Theophilus, ch.1.1.

MAIN THEME, The history of the development of the early church, from the Ascension of Christ to Paul's imprisonment at Rome, and the opening of his ministry there.

Many Bible students see in the book the formal beginning of the dispensation of the Holy Spirit.

The departing Christ makes the announcement of a great campaign of world-wide missions, through human agency under the power of the Spirit, ch.1.8.

THE BOOK MAY BE DIVIDED INTO TWO PARTS, The period of Home Missions, and the period of Foreign Missions.

I. THE PERIOD OF HOME MISSIONS, with Jerusalem as the center. The Work mainly in Palestine among the Jews; the apostle Peter being the most prominent figure.

(1) The Preparatory Events.

(a) The divine commission, ch.1.4—8.

(b) The ascending Lord, ch.1.10,11.

(c) The descending Spirit, ch.2.1—4.

(d) The workers' equipment, ch.2.4; 4.31.

(2) The Ministries.

(a) Of Peter at Pentecost, ch.2.14—40.

Peter's second sermon, ch.3.12—26.

Peter's address to the Sanhedrin, ch.4.5—12.

(b) Of Stephen, ch.7.1—60.

(c) Of Philip and Peter, ch.8.5—25.

(d) Of Philip, ch.8.26—40.

(3) Facts Concerning the Church.

- (a) The growth of. See Accessions, Text Cyclo. No. 733.
- (b) The infilling of, with the Holy Spirit, ch.4.31.
- (c) The unity and benevolence of, ch.4.32-37.
- (d) The spiritual power of, ch.5.12-16.
- (e) The appointment of deacons, ch.6.1-6.

(4) The persecutions of the Church, ch.4.1-3, 17-22; 5.17,18,40; 6.8-15. Persecutions under Saul of Tarsus, ch.8.1-3; 9.1.II. THE PERIOD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Opening with Jerusalem as the center of operations, which was soon transferred to Antioch in Syria.

(1) Preliminary Events Leading up to World-wide Missions.

- (a) The ministry of Philip in Samaria, in association with Peter and John, ch.8.5-25.
- (b) The conversion of Paul, who becomes the great missionary, and the leading figure in the church during this period, ch.9.1-30.
- (c) The broadening of Peter's views by his vision at Joppa, resulting in his ministry among the Gentiles at Cæsarea, ch.10.1-43.
- (d) The outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon the Gentiles at Cæsarea, and the vindication of Peter's ministry there, ch.10.44-11.18.
- (e) The sanction of the work at Antioch by Barnabas, the representative of the church at Jerusalem, ch.11.22-24.
- (f) The bringing of Paul from Tarsus to Antioch by Barnabas, and the co-operation of the two men in establishing the church in the place where the disciples were first called Christians, ch.11.25,26.
- (g) Parenthesis, The persecution of the church at Jerusalem by Herod. The death of James and the imprisonment and deliverance of Peter, ch.12.1-19.

(2) The Epochal Event in the History of Foreign Missions.

Under the Direction of the Holy Spirit, the sending forth of Paul and Barnabas as missionaries by the church at Antioch. John Mark accompanies them, ch.13.1-5.

(3) Paul's First Missionary Journey. Missionaries, Paul, Barnabas and John Mark, ch.13.4-14.26.

Places visited and outstanding events:

The island of Cyprus where the proconsul was converted and Saul's name changed to Paul in the record, ch.13.4-12.

Perga in Pamphylia, where John Mark deserted the party, ch.13.13.

Antioch in Pisidia, Paul's great sermon in the synagogue, ch.13.14-41.

Opposition by the Jews and work among the Gentiles, ch.13.44-49.

Driven from the city by the Jews, the missionaries go to Iconium. Here they work for some time, but persecution arising, they flee to Lystra and Derbe, ch.14.6.

The healing of the lame man at Lystra results in the people proposing to worship Paul and Barnabas, the Jews stir up opposition and Paul is stoned.

Undaunted, the two heroes escape to Derbe, where they preach the gospel and teach many, ch.14.8-20.

From this point the missionaries trace their steps, revisiting and organizing the churches, and return to Antioch in Syria, where they make report of their journey, ch.14.21-28.

(4) The Council at Jerusalem.

- (a) The question at issue, ch.15.5,6.
- (b) Peter's argument in favor of Christian Liberty, ch.15.7-11.
- (c) Paul and Barnabas relate their experiences, ch.15.12.
- (d) The speech of James and the decision of the Council in favor of exempting the Gentiles from the rules of ceremonial law, ch.15.13-29. Judas and Silas are sent to Antioch to deliver the letter from the Council to the church, ch.15.27-30.

(5) Paul's Second Missionary Journey, ch.15.36-18.22.

- (a) Preliminary events. A disagreement between Paul and Barnabas concerning John Mark. Silas chosen to accompany Paul on his journey, ch.15.36-40.
- (b) Places visited and outstanding events. Visitation of the churches of Syria and Cilicia, ch.15.41; at Lystra Timothy joins the missionaries, various cities of Asia Minor visited and the churches strengthened, ch.15.41-16.5.

The Spirit guides them to Troas where they are called into Europe by the Macedonian vision, ch.16.7-10.

At Philippi Paul and Silas are imprisoned, and the jailer converted, ch.16.12-34, and a church is established.

The next important event is the founding of a church at Thessalonica where persecution arises and they depart for Berea, ch.17.1-10. Here the missionaries find some candid students of The Word who become ready converts, ch.17.11,12.

The storm of persecution breaks again, and Paul goes on to Athens leaving Silas and Timothy to establish the church, ch.17.13-15.

At Athens Paul finds a city full of idols, and preaches a sermon at Mars' Hill, but secures only a few converts to the faith, ch.17.15-34.

At Corinth Paul is soon joined by Silas and Timothy, and a church is founded. The work is carried on in the midst of persecution for eight months, ch.18.1-17.

After a considerable time Paul bids the brethren farewell, and sets sail for Syria, making a brief stop at Ephesus, and closes his journey at Antioch, ch.18.18-22.

(6) Paul's Third Missionary Journey, ch.18.23-21.15.

Places visited and outstanding events:

Visitation of the churches in Galatia and Phrygia, ch.18.23.

Parenthesis,—Apollon at Ephesus, ch.18.24-28.

Paul returns to Ephesus and finds a company of imperfectly instructed disciples, and leads them into the larger life of the Spirit, ch.19.1-7.

He continues in the work at Ephesus for two years, ch.19.8-10. The Lord showed his approval of the work by bestowing upon Paul the gift of healing, ch.19.11,12. Sinners were confounded and many burned their evil books, ch.19.11-20.

Then there arose a great uproar among the silver-smiths, fearing that Paul's doctrine would destroy their business of idol making, ch.19.23-41.

Paul leaves Ephesus, and after visiting the churches of Macedonia, comes to Greece, ch.20.1,2. He spends three months in Greece, then returns to Macedonia, and comes to Troas, and preaches, ch.20.3-12.

From Troas he goes to Miletus, and sends for the Ephesian elders to come to him.

Here at Miletus he delivers his great farewell address to the elders, ch.20.17-38.

From Miletus Paul starts for Jerusalem, although warned by the Spirit of the sufferings awaiting him there, ch.21.1-17.

(7) Paul in Jerusalem and Cæsarea.

(a) He relates to the church the experiences of his ministry among the Gentiles, ch.21.18-20.

(b) To silence suspicion, he is urged to take a Jewish vow, which he does, ch.21.20-26.

(c) Is seized by Jewish enemies in the Temple, and rescued from their fury by Roman soldiers, ch.21.27-40.

(d) His defence before the multitude, ch.22.1-21.

(e) He asserts his Roman citizenship to escape being scourged, ch.22.25-30.

(f) His appearance before the Sanhedrin, ch.23.1-10.

(g) The Lord appears to him in the night with a message of cheer, ch.22.11.

(h) A conspiracy among the Jews to kill him, leads to his being sent to Cæsarea, ch.23.12-33.

(i) The accusation brought against him by the Jews, and his defence before the governor, Felix, ch.24.1-21.

(j) His speech before Felix concerning his faith in Christ, ch.24.24-26.

(k) His defence before Festus and his appeal unto Cæsar, ch.25.1-12.

(l) His address before Agrippa, ch.26.1-29.

(8) Paul's Journey to Rome as a Prisoner, ch.27.1-28.16.

(a) The first stage of the voyage, ch.27.2-13.

(b) The storm and the moral ascendancy of Paul, ch.27.14-36.

(c) The shipwreck and the escape to land, ch.27.33-44.

(d) The experiences on the Island of Melita, ch.28.1-10.

(e) The arrival at Rome and Paul's ministry there, ch.28.16-31.

4267—The Epistle to the Romans

WRITER, The apostle Paul.

ADDRESSED TO Roman Christians, ch.1.7.

KEY VERSES, ch.1.16; 5.1.

The epistle may be divided into two main sections:

PART I. DOCTRINAL, chs.1-11.

PART II. PRACTICAL, chs.12-16.

MAIN THEME of Part I, The Plan of Salvation.

Justification by Faith and Sanctification through the Holy Spirit.

Part II. Mainly Exhortations concerning Christian Duties.

A MASTERLY ARGUMENT. In Part I, the apostle proceeds to prove that the entire human race is surrounded by three insurmountable walls.

(1) The wall of universal guilt, chs.1-3.

(2) The wall of sinful tendencies and fleshly lusts, ch.7.15-24.

(3) The wall of the supposed sovereign election of God of a certain portion of the race to salvation, and the divine reprobation of all others, ch.9.7-18.

In the midst of his argument showing the awful situation of the natural man, he points out the doors of divine mercy provided for in the plan of salvation, by which all men can escape the impending judgments of God if they will.

An attempt is made in the drawing given on the next page, to illustrate the points of the apostle's argument by a diagram of the walls and doors of escape.

KEY CHAIN showing the current of thought, ch.1.16; 3.22,23,28; 4.3; 5.1,18; 9.31,32; 10.3,4,6-9.

SYNOPSIS.

PART I. THE PLAN OF SALVATION.

(1) The need of, grounded in the universal guilt of mankind:

(a) Of the Gentile world, ch.1.18-2.7.

(b) Likewise the Jews, under the condemnation of the law, ch.2.8 to 3.20.

(c) All alike sinners, ch.3.23.

(2) The method of, Justification, or righteousness, by faith, ch.3.21-28.

(a) Universal, ch.3.29,30.

(b) Honors the law, ch.3.31.

(3) Illustrated in the life of Abraham, ch.4.

(a) Apart from works, vs.1-6.

(b) Apart from ordinances, vs.9-12.

(c) Apart from the law, vs.13-25.

(4) The blessings of, made effective through the love of God as manifested in the sacrificial death of Christ, ch.5.1-11.

- (5) The scope of the free gift of salvation expounded, ch.5.12-21.
- (6) The free gift does not encourage the continuance in sin, but demands rather the crucifixion of man's corrupt nature, and a life of holy service to God, ch.6.1-23.
- (7) In chapter seven, Paul is evidently speaking of the struggle with sinful tendencies and fleshly lusts.
Whether he refers to his own experience before, or after conversion, is a question concerning which Bible students differ in opinion. All agree that he vividly portrays the strife going on in the human heart, ch.7.7-24.
- (8) The culmination of the divine plan of salvation is pictured in chapter eight. It is a new spiritual life of liberty and righteousness, through faith in Christ.
This is one of the great spiritual chapters of the Bible, in it the Holy Spirit is referred to nineteen times.
- (9) Parenthesis, Paul's solicitude for his own people, ch.9.1-5.
- (10) The Mystery of Divine Election and God's dealings with Israel.
 - (a) Special privileges of Israel, ch.9.4-5. See also, ch.3.1,2.
 - (b) The distinction between the natural and spiritual seed of Abraham, ch.9.6-13.
 - (c) The mystery of the divine sovereignty, ch.9.14-24.
 - (d) The prophets predicted the failure of the Jews to live up to their privileges: the calling of the Gentiles and their acceptance of the divine plan of righteousness by faith, ch.9.25-33.
- (11) The Misapprehension by the Jews of the

- (15) The Restoration of Israel predicted, the mysteries of God's ways declared to be unsearchable, ch.11.23-36.

PART II. PRACTICAL. Chiefly Exhortations. Instructions concerning Christian Duties, ch.12-16.

Ch. 12. This chapter presents one of the finest summaries of Christian duties found in the Scriptures. For analysis of the marginal topics opposite the chapter in this Bible.

- Ch. 13. (1) Civic and social duties, vs.1-10.
- (2) The duty of living as "children of the day," vs.11-14.

Chs. 14.1 to 15.7. Duties to the Weak.

- (1) Charitableness in judging, ch.14.1-13.
- (2) Carefulness not to give offence to, ch.15-23.
- (3) Bearing the infirmities of, and not pleasing self, ch.15.1-7.

CLOSING THOUGHTS, Mainly personal experiences and greetings.

Ch. 15. (cont.)

- (1) Reasons for thanksgiving on the part of the Gentiles and the apostle's wide-spread ministry among them, vs.8-21.
- (2) Paul's desire to visit Rome and his greetings to the various Christian friends, ch.15.22 to 16.16.
- (3) Final words and benediction, vs.17-20.

8—The First Epistle to the Corinthians

WRITER, The Apostle Paul. No. 2697.

HISTORICAL OCCASION. The church at Corinth was founded by Paul on his second missionary journey. It had become infected with the evils which surrounded it in a licentious city.

The Greeks were proud of their learning and philosophy, but at the same time were addicted to gross immorality.

They were especially fond of oratory.

It is apparent that Apollos, an eloquent Christian who had come to Corinth and captured the imaginations of the Greek Christians, see Acts, ch.18. 28.

This fact led to the drawing of comparisons between him, with his silver tongue, and other religious leaders. Especially to the discredit of Paul, whose bodily presence seems not to have been impressive. See 2 Cor. 10.10.

The schism probably is the clue to the schisms in the church, ch.1.11-13. It was the desire of Paul to purify the church from partyism and immorality, which was the primary cause of the writing of the epistle.

THE EPISTLE MAY BE DIVIDED INTO TWO PARTS.

PART I. MAIN THEME. The cleansing of the Church from False Conceptions of the Ministry, Intellectual Pride, Social Evils, and other disorders, chs. 1-11.

KEY CHAIN showing the false conceptions of the ministry, ch.1.12-17; 3.4-7,21,22; 4.6,7.

SYNOPSIS.

- 1) The salutation, ch.1.1-9.
- 2) The need of cleansing the church from party divisions, man-worship, and glorying in worldly wisdom, ch.1.10-31.
- 3) Paul's exemplary ministry. There was no attempt on his part to display worldly wisdom, but to declare the wisdom of God in a message revealed to him by the Holy Spirit, ch.2.1-16.
- 4) The strife over leaders is a mark of immaturity and carnality, ch.3.1-8.
- 5) The True view of the Ministry. Ministers should be regarded:
 - (a) As dispensers of the truth, ch.3.1,2.
 - (b) As gardeners, ch.3.6-8.
 - (c) As co-laborers with God, ch.3.9.
 - (d) As character builders, ch.3.10.
 - (e) As stewards, ch.4.1,2.
 - (f) As sufferers for Christ's sake, ch.4.9-13.
 - (g) As examples, ch.4.16,17.
 - (h) As administrators of discipline, ch.4. 18-21.
- 6) The duty of cleansing the church:
 - (a) From immorality, ch.5.1-13.
 - (b) From litigation, ch.6.1-8.
 - (c) Believers as members of Christ's body and temples of the Holy Spirit, should purify themselves from all sensuality, ch.6.9-20.
- 7) The sanctification of marriage and all sexual relationships and the paramount claims of the spiritual life, ch.7.1-40.

- (8) Christian ideals demand the sacrifice of certain rights and privileges for the sake of the ignorant and weak.

For instance, the eating meat that has been offered to idols, ch.8.1-13.

- (9) Paul's example of the surrender of certain rights and liberties for the sake of winning men to Christ, ch.9.1-27.
- (10) Israel's example of infidelity, a warning to the church, ch.10.1-15.
- (11) Fellowship at the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, demands separation from evil associations, ch.10.16-21.
- (12) Christian influence to be guarded in the matters of eating and drinking, ch.10.23-33.
- (13) Social customs to be observed in matters of dress, ch.11.1-16.
- (14) Cleansing of the church from disorders in connection with the Lord's Supper, and the proper observance of the same, ch.11.17-34.

PART II. Doctrinal Instructions and Advices.

- (1) Concerning the diversity of spiritual gifts, ch.12.1-31.
- (2) The preëminence of love, ch.13.1-13.
- (3) The preëminence of prophecy over the gift of tongues, and the importance of maintaining proper order in the public assemblies, ch.14.1-40.
- (4) The doctrine of the resurrection, ch.15.1-58.
- (5) Closing instructions and salutations, ch.16. 1-24.

4269—The Second Epistle to the Corinthians

WRITER, the apostle Paul. No. 2697.

MAIN THEME. This is somewhat hidden, but it is quite apparent that Paul had prominently in mind, the vindication of his apostleship when he was writing this book.

Both epistles to the Corinthians indicate that there was an element in this church which tended to discredit his ministry and authority. This tendency is shown in the texts of the Key Chain below.

CONTENTS. This is one of the most personal of all of Paul's epistles.

He dwells largely upon his own ministry. He opens his heart and discloses his motives, his spiritual passion, and his tender love for the church.

KEY CHAIN. Ch.3.1; 5.12; 7.2; 10.2,3; 11.5,6; 12.11; 13.3.

SYNOPSIS: There are no definite divisions of thought in the epistle, but the subject matter may be arranged under three headings.

I. The Characteristics of the Apostle's Ministry.

- (1) Comforting, ch.1.4-7; 7.7,13.
- (2) Suffering, ch.1.5-9; 4.8-12; 5.4; 6.4-10; 7.5; 11.24-28; 12.7-10.
- (3) Sincere, ch.1.12; 2.17; 4.2; 7.2.
- (4) Steadfast, ch.1.17-19; 4.1,16.
- (5) Solicitous, ch.2.3,4; 7.7,8; 11.2,3; 12.20, 21.
- (6) Triumphant, ch.2.14; 4.8,9; 12.10.
- (7) Self-sacrificing, ch.4.5,11,15; 5.13; 11. 7,9.

- (8) Love of Christ the controlling motive, ch.4.11; 5.14.
- (9) Spiritual, ch.4.18; 5.16; 10.4.
- (10) Persuasive, ch.5.11,20; 6.1; 10.1,2.
- (11) Reconciling, ch.5.19-21.
- (12) Demonstrated by earnestness, afflictions, and good works, ch.5.13; 6.4-10; 12.12.
- (13) Authoritative, ch.10.1-11.
- (14) Self-supporting, ch.11.9. See Text Cyclo. No. 2097.

II. Exhortations and Instructions concerning Benevolence, chs.8,9.

III. The Apostleship of Paul.

- (1) Discredited by one element in the church, ch.10.7-10; 12.11; 13.3.
- (2) The authority of, ch.2.9; 13.2.
- (3) Authenticated:
 - (a) By the Lord, ch.1.1,21,22; 3.5, 6; 4.6.
 - (b) By unparalleled sufferings for the cause, ch.6.4-10; 11.23-27.
 - (c) By wonderful revelations received, ch.12.1-5.
 - (d) By mighty deeds performed, ch.12.12.

CHOICE SELECTIONS.

- (1) The ideal ministry, ch.4.1-18.
- (2) The triumph over death, ch.5.1-9.
- (3) The call to separation from the world, ch.6.14-18.
- (4) The list of sufferings endured by Paul, ch.11.24-33.

4270—The Epistle to the Galatians

WRITER, The apostle Paul. No. 2697.

DATE. Probably between 55 and 60 A.D.

TO WHOM ADDRESSED. To the churches in Galatia, a district in Asia Minor, the exact boundaries of which are uncertain.

MAIN THEMES. A Defense of the Doctrine of Justification by Faith, warnings against Reversion to Judaism and a Vindication of Paul's Apostleship.

THE MAGNA CHARTA OF THE CHURCH.

This epistle has been so called by some writers. The main argument is in favor of Christian liberty in opposition to the teachings of the Judaizers. These false teachers insisted that the observance of the ceremonial law was an essential part of the plan of salvation.

KEY TEXT, ch.5.1.

KEY CHAIN showing the current of thought, ch.1.6; 2.11-16; 3.1-11; 4.9-11; 5.1-7; 6.15.

EMPHATIC WORDS. "Faith," "Grace," "Liberty," "The Cross."

THE EPISTLE MAY BE DIVIDED INTO FOUR PARTS.

PART I. The salutation and introduction, ch.1.1-9.

PART II. A narrative of Paul's experiences in support of his claim to true apostleship.

- (1) The gospel which he preached came directly by revelation from Christ, while he himself was a zealous Jew persecuting the church, ch.1.10-16.
- (2) For years he was away from the church at Jerusalem and labored independently of the other apostles, ch.1.17-23.

- (3) He was under divine direction in his work among the Gentiles, and in the case Titus, the Greek, had insisted that he should be free from the observance of the ceremonial law, ch.2.1-5.
- (4) The church at Jerusalem indorsed apostleship, and work among the Gentiles, ch.2.7-10.
- (5) He had not hesitated to rebuke Peter, Barnabas and other Christian Jews, when he saw that they were yielding to ritualistic tendencies, ch.2.11-14.

PART III. Paul's Defence of the Doctrine of Justification by Faith apart from the Works of the Law.

- (1) By showing the folly of Christian Jews in abandoning their new faith and light, and returning to the old legalism, ch.2.15-20.
- (2) By appealing to the former spiritual experience of the Galatians, ch.3.1-5.
- (3) By showing that Abraham was justified by faith, ch.3.6-9.
- (4) By showing that the law had no redeeming power, but brought a curse upon the disobedient, from which Christ redeemed believers, ch.3.10-14.
- (5) By proving that the law could not disannul the covenant of salvation by faith, ch.3.15-18.
- (6) By indicating the purpose of the law as a schoolmaster to prepare the way for Christ, ch.3.19-25.
- (7) By showing the losses of those who surrender their faith in Christ, and relapse into legalism.
 - (a) They lose the blessing of their inheritance as children of God, and return to the bondage of ceremonialism, ch.3.26 to ch.4.11.
 - (b) They have lost the sense of appreciation for labors performed in their behalf, ch.4.11-16.
 - (c) They are in danger of becoming children of Abraham after the flesh instead of children of promise, ch.4.19-31.
 - (d) They not only lose their spiritual liberty, but make Christ's sacrifice of no avail for them, ch.5.1-6.

PART IV. Warnings, Instructions, and Exhortations.

- (1) Warnings in regard to false teachers and the misuse of liberty, ch.5.7-13.
- (2) Exhortations concerning the spiritual life.
 - (a) The conflict between the flesh and the Spirit, ch.5.17,18.
 - (b) The works of the flesh which exclude from the kingdom of God, ch.5.19-21.
 - (c) The fruits of the Spirit which should be manifest in Christian life, ch.5.22-26.
- (3) The characteristics of the spiritual life.
 - (a) Charitableness, and burden bearing, ch.6.1,2.
 - (b) Humility, self-examination, self-reliance and benevolence, ch.6.3-6.
 - (c) The law of sowing and reaping holds good in the moral realm, ch.6.7.

- (4) The contrast between the doctrine of the false teachers and that of Paul. The former, glory in ceremonial rites and the marks in the flesh; the latter, in the cross, and the marks of the Lord Jesus, ch.6. 12-17.

71—The Epistle to the Ephesians

WRITER, The apostle Paul. No. 2697.

DATE. Probably written at Rome between 60 and 64 A.D.

APOSTLE'S MINISTRY AT EPHESUS:

His first visit, Ac.18.18-21; on his second visit, the Holy Spirit is given to believers, Ac.19.2-7; his continuance of the work with remarkable success, Ac.19.9-20; his conflict with the silversmiths, Ac.19.23-41; his address to the Ephesian elders, Ac.20.17-35.

HISTORICAL OCCASION OF THE WRITING.

The converted Jews in the early churches were inclined to be exclusive, and separate themselves from their Gentile brethren. This condition of affairs in the church at Ephesus may have led to the writing of this epistle, the keynote of which is Christian unity.

KEY VERSE, ch.4.13.

THEY CHAIN, showing the current of thought, ch.1.10; 2.6,14-22; 4.3-16.

MAIN THEME, the unity of the church, especially between Jew and Gentile believers.

This is shown by the recurrence of certain words and phrases, as

- (1) The word, "together"; gathered together, ch.1.10; quickened together, ch.2.5; raised up together, sitting together, ch.2.6; builded together, ch.2.22.
- (2) The word; "one," indicating unity; one new man, ch.2.15; one body, ch.2.16; one Spirit, ch.2.18; one hope, ch.4.4; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, ch.4.5,6.

OTHER RECURRENT WORDS AND PHRASES.

- 1) "In Christ," ch.1, vs. 1,3,6,12,15,20; ch.2. vs.10,13; ch.3.11; ch.4.21.
- 2) "In heavenly places," ch.1.3,20; ch.2.6; ch.3.10.
- 3) "Riches," of grace, ch.1.7; 2.7.
— of glory, ch.1.18;3.16.
— of Christ, ch.3.8.

SUMMARY.

PART I. The Church and the Plan of Salvation.

NOTE. Paul in discussing the plan of salvation in the different epistles, somewhat varies the emphasis. In Romans he especially dwells upon faith apart from works. In Galatians, faith apart from ceremonial observances. In Ephesians he lays great stress upon the unity of believers.

- Ch. 1. (1) The salvation, vs.1,2.
(2) The divine origin of the church, vs.3-6.
(3) The plan of salvation.
(a) Through the redemptive work of Christ, vs.7,8.
(b) Universal in its scope, vs.9,10.

- (c) Insuring a rich spiritual inheritance, vs.11-14.
(d) Prayer that believers might be fully enlightened as to the riches of its provisions, vs.15-23.

Ch. 2.

- (e) The plan provides for a spiritual resurrection from sin and the exaltation of the believer into heavenly places vs.1-6.
(f) It is wholly of grace and not of works, vs.7-10.
(g) It embraces the Gentiles who were far from God, but were brought nigh by the blood of Christ, vs.11-13.
(h) It removes all barriers between Jews and Gentiles and unites them into one body for the indwelling of the Holy Spirit, vs.14-22.

Ch. 3.

- (i) The mysteries of the divine purpose revealed to Paul, and his appointment as apostle to the Gentiles, vs.1-12.
(j) Paul's second prayer for the spiritual fullness of the church and her enlightenment concerning the matchless love of Christ, vs.14-21.

PART II. PRACTICAL APPLICATION. What the divine plan calls for, on the part of the church.

Ch. 4. (1) The unity of believers.

- (a) In Spirit, vs.1-3.
(b) The seven unities mentioned, vs.4-6.
(c) Diversity of gifts but unity in one body of Christ, vs.7-16.
(2) Consistent Christian life, the believers' walk:
(a) Not as other sinful people, vs.17-21.
(b) In newness of life, abandoning the old sins, vs.22-32.

Ch. 5.

- (c) Walking in love and purity, vs.1-7.
(d) Walking in the light, vs.8-14.
(e) Walking circumspectly, filled with the Spirit, vs.15-21.

(3) The home life.

- (a) Duties of husbands and wives, vs.22-33.

Ch. 6.

- (b) Duties of children, fathers, servants and masters, vs.1-9.
(4) The spiritual warfare.
(a) Source of strength, v.10.
(b) The armour and the foes, vs.11-18.
(5) Concluding words and benediction, vs.19-24.

CHOICE SELECTIONS.

Paul's prayers for the church, ch.1.16-23; 3.14-21.

Christian unity, ch.4.3-16.

The spiritual armour, ch.6.10-17.

4272—The Epistle to the Philippians

WRITER, The apostle Paul. No. 2697.

DATE, uncertain. Probably written from Rome between 60 and 64 A.D.

THE CHURCH. The Philippian church was an ideal one in many respects. It was very appreciative and benevolent. See ch.4.15,16; 2 Co.8.2.

It was founded by Paul on his second missionary journey, in the midst of a storm of persecution. The beginnings of the work were small, among a few women at the river side. Lydia, a seller of purple, was the first convert, and she was soon joined by the Philippian jailor and his family. These, and perhaps a few others, became the nucleus of the church. See Ac.16.12-40.

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE EPISTLE. It is a spiritual love letter to the church. It contains outbursts of warm affection and gratitude.

Written under hard circumstances, while Paul was a prisoner, he strikes the keynotes of victory and joy.

REJOICING in prayer, ch.1.4; in the gospel, ch.1.18; in Christian fellowship, ch.2.1,2; in sacrifices for the cause, ch.2.17,18; in the Lord, ch.3.1; for the loving care of the church, ch.4.10.

CENTRAL MESSAGE. Jesus Christ.

- Ch. 1. (1) As the source of spiritual fruit, v.11.
(2) As the theme of preaching, v.18.
(3) As the highest motive of Christian service, vs.20,21.

Ch. 2. (4) As exhibiting the only perfect spirit and example, vs.5-11.

Ch. 3. (5) The knowledge of whom, is the supreme prize for which to struggle in life, vs.7-14.

- (6) At whose appearing, believer's bodies shall be fashioned anew, vs.20,21.

Ch. 4. (7) Whose power is limitless in Christian lives, v.13.

- (8) Who is the channel of divine supplies for every need, v.19.

SYNOPSIS.

Ch. 1. (1) The salutation, vs.1-7.

- (2) A personal disclosure by the apostle, of his inner life and his attitude toward the church.

(a) His solicitude for its spiritual development, vs.8-11.

(b) His assurance that his bonds have proven a blessing to many, vs.12-19.

(c) His expectation and desire, that whatever may be the outcome of his imprisonment, Christ may be magnified by his life or death, v.20.

(d) His realization of the gain of death for the believer, but feeling that his work is unfinished, he is hoping to visit the Philippian church once more, vs.21-25.

(e) His chief concern is for the faithfulness of the church in the midst of her persecutions, vs.27-30.

Ch. 2. (3) Exhortations, in respect to Christian life and character.

(a) To unity, humility, and self-forgetfulness, vs.1-4.

(b) To the seeking of the mind of Christ, vs.5-13.

(d) To co-operation with God, in working out personal salvation, and to live as the approved sons of God in a evil world, vs.12-16.

(4) The apostle's commendation of his messengers, Timothy and Epaphroditus, vs.19-30.

Ch. 3. (5) Warnings against Judaizers, vs.1-3.

(6) A narrative of the apostle's experiences.

(a) As a high class, zealous Jew who had abandoned, worthless, all his legal righteousness, to accept the righteousness by faith, in Christ, vs.4-9.

(b) His supreme ambition being, to know Christ and partake of his resurrection and reach the final goal of a Christlike character, vs.10-14.

(7) Further exhortations to the church:

(a) To follow the apostolic example, vs.15-17.

(b) To beware of enemies of the cross, vs.18-19.

(c) To be heavenly citizens, looking forward to a great change at the coming of the Lord, vs.20,21.

Ch. 4. (d) To steadfastness, unity, helpfulness, moderation, freedom from anxious care, prayerfulness, high thinking, v.1-8.

(8) Closing words of appreciation, promise of divine supplies for every need, the salutations and benediction, vs.10-23.

4273—The Epistle to the Colossians

WRITER, The apostle Paul. No. 2697.

DATE. Probably written from Rome between 60 and 64 A.D.

TO WHOM ADDRESSED, The church at Colossae, a city of Asia Minor.

PURPOSE.

(1) General, a message of good will, to exhort and edify believers.

(2) Special, to counteract doctrinal errors growing out of the mixture of Judaic teaching, combined with the vagaries of oriental and philosophic speculation.

These heresies tended to obscure the divine glory of Christ.

CHARACTERISTICS. The epistle presents a considerable resemblance to Ephesians both in thought and language, yet has a distinct message of its own. In Ephesians Paul dwells upon the thought of the church as the body of Christ, while in Colossians he emphasizes Christ as the head of the church. The warning against trusting in worldly wisdom which appears in 1 Corinthians, reappears in Colossians.

SYNOPSIS. The epistle may be divided into six parts. PART I.

Ch. 1. (1) The apostolic greeting and commendation, vs.1-8.

(2) The prayer for the church.

(a) That it might be filled with wisdom, fruitful in good works, and strengthened with divine power, vs.9-11.

(b) Thanksgiving for the spiritual inheritance, the great deliverance, and redemption from sins, vs.12-14.

PART II. The Doctrinal Section. Main Theme, The glory of the Person and Work of Christ.

Ch. 1. (1) His glorious preëminence.

(a) As the image of God, v.15.

(b) The creator of all things, v.16. See Text Cyclo. No. 680.

(c) His preëxistence, v.17. See Text Cyclo. 709.

(d) His headship of the church, v.18. See Text Cyclo. No. 735.

(e) His divine fullness, v.19. See Text Cyclo. No. 1124.

(f) His reconciling work, vs. 20-23.

(g) The mystery of his indwelling in believers proclaimed in Paul's ministry, vs. 24-29.

Ch. 2. (2) Paul's anxiety concerning the state of the church.

(a) That the members might be united together in love, having a fuller understanding of the spiritual mysteries of the Father and of Christ, vs.1-3.

(b) He warns against false doctrine and enjoins steadfast faith in Christ, vs.4-7.

PART III. Doctrinal and Polemical Section.

Ch. 2. (1) The peril of worldly philosophy and legalism, v.8.

(2) The transcendent glory of Christ and the power of his spiritual ordinances, contrasted with those of the ceremonial system, vs. 4-13.

(3) The liberating power of the cross of Christ in abolishing the old ceremonialism, vs.14-17.

(4) Warnings concerning angel worship, and false mysticism which dishonor Christ as the Head of the church, vs.18,19.

(5) Warnings against ceremonialism and asceticism, vs.20-23.

PART IV. The Hortatory Section.

Ch. 3. Exhortations.

(1) To heavenly aspirations and affections, vs.1-4.

(2) To the subjugation of fleshly lusts and desires, vs.5-7.

(3) To lay aside the evil passions and vices, and to put on the Christian graces and virtues, vs.8-14.

(4) To be ruled by the spirit of peace, unity and thankfulness, v.15.

(5) To seek an infilling of the truth so as to be mutually helpful in instruction and warning and praise; doing all things in the name of Christ, vs.16-17.

PART V. The Family Section.

Chs. 3, 4. The duties of the various members of the Christian household: wives, husbands, children, fathers, servants, masters, ch.3.18 to 4.1.

PART VI. The Fellowship Section.

Ch. 4. (1) Paul's request for prayer and advice concerning social conduct, vs.3-6.

(2) Closing salutations and commendations of workers, vs.7-18.

4274—The First Epistle to the Thessalonians

WRITER. The apostle Paul. No. 2697.

DATE. Time and place is uncertain. It is generally thought that this was the earliest of Paul's epistles and was probably written from Corinth between 49 and 54 A.D.

THE CHURCH. was founded by Paul on his second missionary journey. He met with violent opposition in his work, but he succeeded in winning some Jews and a multitude of Greeks which enabled him to establish a faithful church. See Ac.17.1-10.

HISTORICAL OCCASION. Paul had sent Timothy to encourage and strengthen the church. On his return, the report that he gave apparently inspired the apostle to write the epistle, ch.3.6.

MAIN THEMES. This is one of the most personal of all of Paul's epistles. It is not so doctrinal or polemical as some of the others.

The body of the epistle consists chiefly of commendations, personal reminiscences, counsels, and exhortations.

The central truth which is especially emphasized, is the future hope of the advent of Christ.

SYNOPSIS. The epistle may be divided into five parts.

PART I. The Commendatory Section.

Ch. 1. (1) The salutation, v.1.

(2) The commendation of the church.

For its faith and loving service, vs.2-4; for spiritual receptivity, vs.5,6; for exemplary influence, vs.7,8; for abandonment of idolatry and for spiritual hope, vs.9,10.

PART II. The Reminiscence Section.

Paul reminds them of the characteristics of his ministry.

- Ch. 2. (1) As courageous, sincere, God-fearing, truthful and unselfish, vs. 2-5.
 (2) As humble, gentle, affectionate, industrious, irreproachable, and paternal, vs. 6-12.
 (3) He refers to the teachableness and sufferings of the church, vs. 13, 14.
 (4) References to the apostle's desire to visit the church, and his glorying in them as his crown of rejoicing, vs. 17-20.

PART III. The Messenger Section.

- Ch. 3. (1) The sending of Timothy to strengthen the church, vs. 1-5.
 (2) The favorable report of his messenger and its comforting and joyful result, vs. 6-9.
 (3) Paul's earnest prayer that he might visit the church and aid them in their spiritual development, vs. 10-13.

PART IV. The Hortatory Section.

- Ch. 4. (1) Exhortations concerning personal and social purity, vs. 1-8.
 (2) Exhortations in respect to brotherly love and industry, vs. 9-12.

PART V. The Future Hope Section.

Ch. 4. The Lord's Coming.

- (1) The comforting hope for the bereaved, vs. 13, 14.
 (2) The order of the resurrections, v. 15.
 (3) The manner, and accompanying events of Christ's appearance, vs. 16-18.

- Ch. 5. (4) The time of the Advent unknown, vs. 1, 2. See also Text Cyclo. No. 1345.

CHOICE SELECTIONS.

The second coming of Christ, ch. 4.13 to ch. 5.11. Practical duties, ch. 5.12-22. This is a companion passage to the 12th chapter of Romans.

4275—The Second Epistle to the Thessalonians

A SEQUEL TO I THESSALONIANS

WRITER, The apostle Paul. No. 2697.

DATE. Probably written from Corinth shortly after the first epistle.

HISTORICAL OCCASION. It is apparent that certain expressions in Paul's first epistle to this church, had been misinterpreted.

When he had referred to the uncertainty of the time of Christ's coming, his words had been understood as teaching that the day of the Lord was just at hand. See R.V., ch. 2.2.

This resulted in undue excitement. The converts were "Shaken in mind," ch. 2.2. They were entertaining wrong views as to the nearness of the Lord's advent which unsettled their lives.

Some have thought from the wording of verses two and three, of chapter two, that the church had received a forged letter which had added fuel to the fire. This is purely conjectural. There is no much doubt that the epistle was the outcome of an excited state of the church.

CENTRAL THEME. The Second Coming of Christ.

KEY TEXT, ch. 3.5.

SYNOPSIS, The epistle may be divided into three parts.

PART I. CH. 1.

- (1) The salutation and thanksgiving, vs. 1-3.
 (2) (a) Words of comfort to the church in persecution, vs. 4-6.
 (b) A sharp contrast is drawn between the glorious destiny of believers at the advent of Christ, and the fate of the impenitent wicked, vs. 7-12.

PART II. CH. 2.

- (1) Warnings against unrest caused by wrong views concerning The Lord's speedy coming, vs. 1, 2.
 (2) The announcement of events that will occur prior to the advent,
 (a) A coming apostasy, v. 3.
 (b) The self-exaltation of the man of sin, vs. 3, 4.
 (c) In due time the lawless one will be revealed, accompanied by signs and lying wonders, vs. 5-9.
 (d) This satanic personage shall be destroyed at the coming of Christ, v. 10.
 (e) A mighty delusion shall deceive the wicked, vs. 10-12.

- (3) An affectionate appeal to believers who had enjoyed the great privileges of the gospel, to hold fast to sound doctrine, vs. 13-15.

- (4) A comforting benediction, vs. 16, 17.

PART III. CH. 3.

- (1) The apostle's confidence in the church
 (a) He requests their prayers, vs. 1, 2.
 (b) He believes they will be kept from evil and be obedient to his commands, vs. 3, 4.
 (c) He enjoins upon them patient waiting for the advent of Christ and separation from disorderly brethren, vs. 5.

- (2) The apostolic example.

- (a) Of orderly living, v. 7.
 (b) Of voluntary self-support, for the sake of a good influence, vs. 8, 9.
 (c) Of insistence upon industry on the part of believers, v. 10.

- (3) Concluding admonitions.

- (a) Concerning idlers and busybodies, vs. 11, 12.
 (b) Respecting persevering labor, and respecting calkitants, vs. 13, 14.

- (4) The benediction and salutation, vs. 16-18.

276—The First Epistle to Timothy

WRITER, The apostle Paul. No. 2697.

DATE, uncertain.

MAIN THEMES. Counsels and Exhortations to a Young Pastor respecting his Personal Conduct and Ministerial Work.

KEY TEXT, ch.3.15.

SYNOPSIS.

PART I. Mainly Doctrinal Counsels and Personal Experiences.

Ch. 1. (1) Salutation, vs.1,2.

(2) Counsels concerning dealing with legalistic teachers,

(a) Who emphasize non-essentials rather than real godliness; which, instead of building up character, stir up strife, vs.3-6.

(b) Who desire to be teachers of the law without understanding its significance, vs.7-11.

(3) Paul's experience.

(a) His call to the ministry while in active opposition to the gospel, vs.12,13.

(b) His acknowledgment of divine grace and confession of unworthiness, vs.14,15.

(c) Christ's purpose in using him as a pattern of long-suffering, v.16.

(4) The first solemn charge to Timothy, vs.18-20.

PART II. Prayer and Counsels to Men and Women.

Ch. 2. (1) Intercessory prayer for all men, vs.1-4.

(2) Christ the mediator, vs.5,6.

(3) Paul the apostle to the Gentiles, v.7.

(4) The duties of men and women, vs.8-15.

PART III. Spiritual Oversight. The qualifications of bishops and deacons.

Ch. 3. (1) The qualifications of a bishop:

(a) Personal character and habits, vs.2,3.

(b) Attitude toward his family, vs.4,5.

(c) Experience and good reputation, vs.6,7.

(2) The qualifications of deacons:

(a) Character, habits, and Christian experience, vs.8,9.

(b) Tested for a period, v.10.

(c) Having faithful wives, and proper authority in their own homes, vs.11,12.

(d) The advantages of the diaconate, v.13.

(3) The purpose of the epistle, v.15.

(4) The mystery of the incarnation of Christ, v.16.

PART IV. Predictions and Counsels.

Ch. 4. (1) Predictions of future apostasy and the prevalence of satanic doctrines which would undermine the home and result in a godless asceticism, vs.1-4.

(2) Counsels as to teaching, ministerial conduct, example, etc.

(a) The marks of a good minister of Christ, v.6.

(b) The preëminence of godliness, vs.7,8.

(c) The importance of a godly example, v.12.

(d) The duty of diligence in reading and teaching, and the exercise of personal gifts, vs.13,14.

(e) The importance of meditation and entire consecration, coupled with watchfulness over personal conduct, for the sake of a saving influence, vs.15,16.

PART V. Ministerial Administration, counsels concerning.

Ch. 5. (1) Courtesy to old and young, vs.1,2.

(2) The attitude of the church toward widows, vs.3-16.

NOTE: This passage should be studied with a knowledge of the times and social conditions.

(3) The duty to the church elders, vs.17-20.

(4) The duty of impartial and deliberate action, vs.21,22.

(5) Parenthesis, advice relating to personal matters, vs.23-25.

Ch. 6. (6) Duties of servants, vs.1,2.

(7) Duty of separation from contentious teachers, vs.3-5.

(8) The blessings of contentment, vs.6-8.

(9) The peril of riches, and the duty of the minister to avoid covetousness; to seek Christian virtues, and "fight the good fight of faith," vs.9-12.

(10) A solemn charge to the young pastor to keep his doctrine pure until the appearing of the King of kings, vs.13-16.

(11) An exhortation to warn the rich against pride and self-confidence, and to urge them to benevolence and heavenly investments, vs.17-19.

(12) Final charge to fidelity and avoidance of false doctrine, vs.20,21.

4277—The Second Epistle to Timothy

WRITER, The apostle Paul. No. 2697.

PLACE AND DATE. Probably written from Rome between 65 and 67 A.D.

It contains the last recorded words of the apostle.

PURPOSE.

(1) General, to encourage and instruct a young pastor in his ministerial work.

- (2) Special, to request Timothy, his son in the gospel, to hasten to Rome in order that he might have the comfort of his companionship, ch.1.4; 4.9,21.

HISTORICAL OCCASION. It is generally believed that Paul suffered two imprisonments at Rome, and that it was during the second that this epistle was written. Formerly he had had a certain degree of liberty and lived in his own hired house, Ac.28.30.

At that time he had been accessible to his friends, but now he is in close confinement and Onesiphorus had difficulty in finding him, ch.1.17. He had been deserted by many of his former associates, ch.1.15; and was expecting very soon to be led out to execution, ch.4.6. There is a pathetic strain of loneliness running through the epistle, and it is not surprising that he was anxious to see his beloved Timothy.

PECULIARITIES OF THE EPISTLE.

Both epistles to Timothy contain urgent exhortations. It has been surmised that Timothy was not robust. See 1 Ti.5.23.

Perhaps he was temperamentally timid, 2 Ti.1.6,7. Hence the word "ashamed" appears prominently in the epistle.

He was urged not to be ashamed of his testimony, his prisoner friend, ch.1.8, or his workmanship, ch.2.15.

He was exhorted to regard himself as a soldier in the midst of a hard campaign, ch.2.3,4.

THE EPISTLE MAY BE DIVIDED INTO FOUR PARTS, the chapters furnishing the natural divisions.

SYNOPSIS.

PART I. Personal Greetings, Exhortations, and Experiences.

- Ch. 1. (1) The affectionate greeting, vs.1-4.
 (2) A reminder to Timothy of his godly ancestry, and an exhortation to earnestness and courage, vs.5-8.
 (3) A reference to the plan of salvation through Christ, vs.9,10.
 (4) Personal allusions to the writer's own call to the work, and his unswerving confidence in the Lord, vs.11,12.
 (5) A second exhortation, vs.13,14.
 (6) A reference to the disloyalty of the churches in Asia, and a commendation of the constancy of Onesiphorus, vs.15-18.

PART II. Chiefly Counsels to the Young Servant of the Lord.

- Ch. 2. (1) As a Spiritual Soldier, Athlete and Husbandman.
 (a) To be strong in divine grace and select faithful helpers, vs.1,2.
 (b) To manifest soldierly qualities of endurance and separation from worldly entanglements, vs.3,4.
 (c) As a spiritual athlete to keep the rules of the game, v.5.
 (d) As a husbandman expecting fruits, v.6.

(2) Truths to be kept in mind:

- (a) The resurrection of Christ, the preaching of which had led to Paul's imprisonment, vs.7-9.
 (b) Suffering for the church, and dying with Christ, lead to eternal life and spiritual honor, vs.9-12.

(3) Counsels in respect to dealing with heresy and religious controversy.

- (a) By earnest admonitions to the contentious, v.14.
 (b) By seeking to become a skillful expositor of the truth, v.15.
 (c) By shunning religious vagaries and strange doctrines which eat into spiritual life and overthrow faith, vs.16-18.
 (d) By remembering the strength of divine foundations and that Christians must separate themselves from evildoers, v.19.

- (e) By remembering that the church, like a great house, has some vessels of honor and some of dishonor, and it should be the ambition of all to be vessels "meek and lowly, for the Master's use," vs.20,21.

(4) Counsels respecting personal desires and dealing with strife.

- (a) The importance of personal purity and spiritual ambitions, v.22.
 (b) The necessity of avoiding foolish questions and strife by patient treatment of opposers, with the hope that they will repent, vs.23-26.

PART III. Chiefly Predictions of Apostasy and Social Corruption, coupled with exhortation to steadfastness.

- Ch. 3. (1) The various evil characteristics of men in the last days, who under the guise of religion will practice sensuality, vs.1-6. Their stupidity and folly will one day manifest to all men, vs.7-9.
 (2) Parenthesis, references to persecution, vs.11,12.
 (3) A prediction of the rising tide of sin, v.13.
 (4) An appeal to Timothy to be steadfast in view of his spiritual opportunities and early training in the Scriptures, vs.14,15.
 (5) The power of the inspired Word of God to equip and perfect the Christian worker for his task, vs.16,17.

PART IV. A Solemn Charge, a Victorious End, a Sad Desertion, a Pathetic Appeal, a Perfect Confidence.

Ch. 4. (1) The Solemn Charge:

- (a) Concerning faithfulness in delivering the message, vs. 1, 2.
 - (b) Predictions of a time when men would despise the truth, and seek teachers who would pander to their own lusts, vs. 3, 4.
 - (c) The exhortation to an earnest and faithful ministry, v. 5.
- (2) The Close of Paul's Career.

- (a) It ends in the spirit of victory, vs. 6–8.
- (b) In perfect confidence in the Lord, vs. 17, 18.

(3) The Need of Companionship, and some things to relieve the hardships of imprisonment.

- (a) The loneliness caused by the departure of friends and the desertion of inconsistent associates, vs. 10–12, also v. 16.
- (b) Some comforts needed to cheer the prison life, v. 13.
- (c) Timothy urged to come quickly, vs. 9, 21.
- (d) Final greetings and benediction, vs. 19–22.

78—The Epistle to Titus

WRITER, The apostle Paul. No. 2697.

FACTS CONCERNING TITUS. He was a Gentile, Ga. 2.3; a beloved friend and helper of Paul, 2 Co. 2.13; 7.6, 13; 8.23. A messenger of the church at Corinth, 2 Co. 8.16–18. He was thoroughly trustworthy and unselfish, 2 Co. 12.18. A companion of Paul and Barnabas on a journey to Jerusalem, Ga. 2.1. He was left in Crete by Paul to superintend the churches, Tit. 1.5. He was in Rome with Paul during the latter's imprisonment, 2 Ti. 4.10. He seems to have been a more sturdy man than Timothy and probably more mature.

MAIN THEME. Counsels and Exhortations relating to Ministerial Duties and Doctrines, with special emphasis laid upon the maintenance of good works.

KEY VERSES, ch. 1.5; 3.8, 8.8, 8.16, 8.17.

PHATIC THOUGHT. The emphasis upon good works is seen in, ch. 1.16; 2.7, 14; 3.1, 8, 14.

This is a sufficient answer to those who claim that there is a conflict of doctrine between Paul's epistles and that of James.

The character of the Cretians was such that Paul thought it necessary to advise their minister to insist upon consistent Christian living. Nevertheless this epistle does not teach salvation by works, h. 3.5.

NOTES.

PART I. Chiefly Instructions concerning Church Organization and Discipline.

Ch. 1. (1) The salutation and references to the shortcomings of the gospel vs. 1–4.

(2) The purpose of the assignment of Titus to Crete, v. 5.

(3) Church order and discipline.

(a) The character and qualifications of elders and bishops, vs. 6–9.

(b) The duty of suppressing mercenary teachers, vs. 10, 11.

(c) The evil character of the Cretians; demanding stern treatment and steadfast adherence to the truth, vs. 12–14.

(d) Inward detestation and hypocrisy condemned, vs. 15, 16.

PART II. Sound Doctrine and Good Works.

Ch. 2. (1) Apostolic Instructions adopted for various classes, believed

(a) Respecting the spirit and in behavior of aged men and women, vs. 2, 3.

(b) Teachings adapted to young men and women, vs. 4–6.

(c) Exhortation to Titus concerning his personal example, vs. 7, 8.

(d) The duties of servants, vs. 9, 10.

(1) The universal opportunity of salvation demands

(a) Self-denial and godliness in this world, vs. 1, 11, 12.

(b) The looking for the fulfillment of the blessed hope of Christ's coming, v. 13.

(c) The sacrifice of Christ constrains his people to holy living, v. 14.

(3) The Importance of Enforcing these truths, v. 15.

PART III. Chiefly Additional Instructions respecting the Maintenance of the Doctrine of Good Works, and the Divine Method of Salvation.

Ch. 3. (1) Social obligations and duties, vs. 1, 2.

(2) The gracious method of salvation.

(a) The universality of sin, v. 3.

(b) Good works not the basis of salvation, but cleansing grace through Christ, vs. 4–7.

(3) The importance of good works should be constantly taught, vs. 8.

(4) The treatment of foolish questions and heresy, vs. 9–11.

(5) Closing words and benediction, vs. 12–15.

CHOICE SELECTIONS.

The blessed hope; ch. 2.11–14.

Saved by grace, ch. 3.4–7.

4279—The Epistle to Philemon

A private letter of intercession written by Paul probably from Rome, and sent to Philemon at Colosse, Col.4.7-9.

FACTS CONCERNING PHILEMON. He was apparently a member of the church at Colosse, which seems to have held its assemblies in his house, v.2.

His benevolence (vs.5-7), and Paul's request for him to prepare a lodging (v.22), indicate that he was a man of some means.

As Paul had never been in Colosse (Col.2.1), Philemon must have met him elsewhere, possibly in Ephesus, which was not far away.

It would seem that he owed his conversion to the apostle v.19.

THE STORY OF ONESIMUS. He was a runaway slave of Philemon. It is inferred that he robbed his master and fled to Rome, see v.18.

Here he came under the influence of Paul and was converted, v.19.

He became a devoted disciple of Christ, Col.4.9. Paul would have chosen to have detained him in Rome as a helper (v.13), but not having the consent of Philemon (v.14), he felt it to be his duty to send the slave back to his master.

So the apostle writes this beautiful letter of intercession, pleading with Philemon to forgive and restore Onesimus to favor.

SYNOPSIS.

- (1) The cordial and commendatory greeting, vs.1-7.
- (2) The testimonial concerning the changed character of Onesimus, vs.10,11.
- (3) The tender appeal for forgiveness of the returning slave, vs.12-19.
- (4) Farewell salutations and benediction, vs.20-25.

SPIRITUAL LESSONS from Paul's example.

- (1) The importance of sympathy for the lowly.
- (2) The duty of obedience to the law on the part of converts: Onesimus must return to his master.
- (3) Christian brotherhood obliterates all social and class distinctions.

4280—The Epistle to the Hebrews

AUTHORSHIP AND DATE UNCERTAIN. The epistle is anonymous and has been ascribed to Paul, Barnabas, Luke, Apollos and various other persons. The most that can be said is that the weight of opinion seems to favor the Pauline authorship.

PURPOSE. The epistle was apparently written primarily to Hebrew Christians. These converts were in constant danger of relapsing into Judaism, not at least of attaching too much importance to ceremonial observances. The chief doctrinal purpose of the writer was to show the transcendent glory of the Christian dispensation as compared with that of the Old Testament.

KEY WORD. Better. By following this word the reader will discover the main current of thought. See Text Cyclo. No. 3500.

Other recurrent words and phrases:

"Sat down," referring to Christ's finished work, ch.1.3; 10.12; 12.2.

"Heavenly," calling, ch.3.1; priest, ch.4.14; gift, ch.6.4; substance, ch.10.34; country, ch.11.16; city, ch.12.22.

"Let Us," a series of eleven exhortations:

"Fear," ch.4.1.

"Labor," ch.4.11.

"Come boldly to a throne of grace," ch.4.16.

"Go on," ch.6.1.

"Draw near," ch.10.22.

"Hold fast," ch.10.23.

"Consider one another," ch.10.24.

"Lay aside every weight and run with patience," ch.12.1.

"Have grace," ch.12.28.

"Go forth," ch.13.13.

"Offer the sacrifice of praise," ch.13.15.

The epistle may be divided into two parts. Part I, chiefly doctrinal; Part II, chiefly practical.

SYNOPSIS.

PART I. SECTION I. THE PREËMINENCE OF CHRIST.

Ch. 1. (1) Over the prophets, because of his divine glory, vs.1-3.

(2) Over the angels.

- (a) Having a better name, v.4.
- (b) Acknowledged as the only begotten son by the Father, v.5.
- (c) Angels commanded to worship him, v.6.
- (d) Exalted above the angels to the eternal throne at the right hand of God, vs.8-14.
- (e) His message is transcendent importance, and it is perilous to disregard it, vs.1-4.
- (f) Jesus made a little lower than the angels, dies for mankind that he may bring many sons into his own glory with the Father, and destroy him who had the power of death, vs.9-14.

SECTION II. THE PREËMINENCE OF CHRIST'S PRIESTHOOD.

Ch. 2. (cont.)

(1) He assumed human nature.

- (a) Preparatory for his work of reconciliation, vs.16,17.
- (b) His temptation prepared him to succor the tempted, v.18.

Ch. 3. (2) An appeal to consider Christ's priesthood, v.1.

(3) His preëminence over Moses, as servant, Christ being a son, vs.2-5.

(4) Parenthesis, The failure of Israel.

(a) To enter in to the Canaan-rest, vs.7-11.

(b) They were excluded because of unbelief, vs.12-19.

Ch. 4. (c) A warning to the church not to follow the example of those believing Israel, but to enter into the rest of faith, vs.1-11.

(d) The believer rests in the work of redemption and ceases trusting in his own works, vs.9-11.

(e) The power of The Word of God, vs.12,13.

The Subject of the Priesthood of Christ resumed.

- (1) The sympathetic priesthood of Christ an encouragement to steadfastness and prayer, vs.14-16.
- h. 5. (2) The high priest, his office and work:
- (a) Taken from among men, v.1.
 - (b) Sympathetic because of his own weaknesses, v.2.
 - (c) Presents an offering for himself, as well as for the people, v.3.
 - (d) Divinely chosen, v.4.
- (3) Characteristics of Christ's priesthood.
- (a) Divinely chosen after a new order, vs.5,6.
 - (b) He offered up earnest prayers for deliverance in a submissive spirit, vs.7,8.
 - (c) Became author of eternal salvation, vs.9,10.
- (4) Parentetic rebuke, appeal, warning, and commendation.
- (d) Rebuke, for dullness and immaturity, vs.11-14.
- h. 6. (e) An appeal for progress in doctrinal truth, vs.1-3.
- (f) A warning respecting those who, having enjoyed the higher privileges of the new dispensation, turn away from Christ, vs.4-8.
 - (g) A commendation of the church, and a confidence that believers will continue faithful and inherit the promises, vs.9-12.
- The subject of Christ's priesthood again resumed.
- (5) The certainty of the fulfillment of the divine promises.
- (a) Illustrated in the life of Abraham, vs.13-15.
 - (b) Confirmed by an oath, vs.16,17.
 - (c) Like an anchor to the soul, vs.18,19.
 - (d) Assured by our heavenly high priest, v.20.
- h. 7. (6) The priesthood of Melchisedec a type of Christ's.
- (a) Having a great name and belonging to an eternal order, vs.1-3.
 - (b) Honored with tithes by Abraham, and superior to the Aaronic priesthood, vs.4-10.
- (7) The summary of the preëminent qualities of Christ's priesthood:
- (a) Like that of Melchisedec, it belonged to an eternal order, and was confirmed by a divine oath, vs.11-22.
 - (b) Is unchangeable and infinite in power, vs.23-25.
 - (c) Was sinless and perfect, and made one complete sacrifice, vs.26-28.
- h. 8. (d) Is now exercised in the heavenly sanctuary, vs.1-5.
- (e) Mediates through a better covenant, vs.6-13.

Ch. 9.

- (f) The ancient rites and ceremonies, and the sacrifices performed by the priests were only types, vs.1-10.
- (g) The redemptive work of Christ and his blood cleansing from sin, are sublime realities, vs.11-15.
- (h) The institutes of the old covenant prefigured the perfect sacrificial work of Christ in the new, vs.16-28.

Ch. 10.

- (i) The oft-repeated Jewish sacrifices were not effectual to take away sin. While Christ, by his one great sacrifice, completed the redemptive work for mankind, and "sat down at the right hand of God," awaiting the consummation of the divine plan, vs.1-18.

PART II. CHIEFLY PRACTICAL TEACHINGS AND EXHORTATIONS.

- (1) The privilege of entering into the divine presence through the sacrifice and priesthood of Christ vs.19-21.
- (2) Exhortations.
 - (a) To draw near in worship with full assurance, having prepared the heart, v.22.
 - (b) To steadfastness, mutual encouragement, and faithful attendance upon the means of grace, vs.23-25.
- (3) Warnings respecting the perils of backsliding.
 - (a) The penalty visited upon despisers, under the Mosaic law, vs.26-28.
 - (b) The worse fate of those who dishonor Christ's sacrifice and the gracious spirit of God, vs.29-31.
- (4) A reminder to the Hebrew believers, of their previous fortitude in enduring afflictions and an exhortation to patience and perseverance, vs.32-39.

Ch. 11. (5) A roll call of the heroes and heroines of faith.

- (a) The sphere of faith, vs.1-3.
- (b) Notable examples of faith:
 - Abel, v.4.
 - Enoch, vs.5,6.
 - Noah, v.7.
 - Abraham and Sara, vs.8-19.
 - Isaac, Jacob and Joseph, vs.20-22.
 - Moses and his parents, vs.23-29.
 - Joshua and Israel, v.30.
 - Rahab, v.31.
 - Other worthies, vs.32-40.

Ch. 12. (6) Spiritual athletics, the Christian race.

- (a) The audience, the preparation, and how to run, v.1.

- (b) Eyes upon the Master at the goal, remembering his victory, v.2.
- (c) The inspiration when weary, vs.3,4.
- (d) The value of hardship and correction in training, vs.5-10.
- (e) The good results of hardship and chastening, v.11.
- (f) An exhortation to sturdiness and straightforwardness, vs.12,13.
- (7) Exhortations respecting peaceableness, purity, and watchfulness against evil influences, vs.14,15.
- (8) Warnings concerning selling out life's blessings, vs.16,17.
- (9) A contrast between Mount Sinai of the Old Testament and Mount Sion of the New.
 - (a) Mount Sinai with its awful manifestations of divine power, vs.18-21.
 - (b) Mount Sion with the glorious company within the heavenly Jerusalem, vs.22-24.
- (10) Solemn warning respecting the heeding of the heavenly message in regard to the mutability of earthly things and the permanence of God's kingdom, vs.25-28.

Ch. 13. (1) Final exhortations respecting Christian Duties.

4281—The Epistle of James

AUTHORSHIP UNCERTAIN.

There are three prominent persons named James, in the New Testament. It is quite generally agreed that James, called by Paul "the Lord's brother," (Ga.1.19), was the writer of the epistle. See Text Cyclo. No. 1844.

TO WHOM ADDRESSED. Apparently to the Jewish converts who lived outside the Holy Land, possibly also to the devout Jews of the dispersion, ch.1.1.

MAIN THEME, Practical Religion, manifested itself in good works, contrasted with mere Profession of Faith.

KEY TEXTS, ch.1.27; 2.26.

IMAGINARY DOCTRINAL CONFLICT BETWEEN PAUL AND JAMES.

Some have seen a conflict of doctrine between the teachings of this epistle and that of Roman Catholicism. This is purely imaginary.

Paul, harassed by Judaistic teachers in the churches, naturally laid great stress upon justification by faith apart from trust in ceremonial observances. Nevertheless, when writing to Titus, he made the importance of good works the main subject of his epistle, thus showing his perfect harmony with the teachings of James. It is evident that the latter, when he seems to depreciate faith, is referring to mere intellectual assent to truth, and not to "saving faith" spoken of by Paul.

SYNOPSIS. This epistle does not easily lend itself to analysis, but most of the material may be arranged under two headings, True and False Religion.

PART I. The Marks of True Religion.

- Ch. 1. (1) Joy and patience in the midst of trials, vs.2-4.
- (2) Unwavering faith and singleness of mind, vs.5-8.
- (3) Acceptance of the providential allotments of life, vs.9-11.
- (4) The endurance of temptation, v.12.
- (5) The recognition of the sources of temptation and the results of yielding thereto, vs.13-15.
- (6) The recognition of the divine sources of all blessings, vs.16-18.
- (7) Spiritual hearing, deliberation, speech, and patience under persecution, vs.19,20.
- (8) Forsaking all evil, and the moral reception of saving truth, v.21.
- (9) Searching after the truth and practicing it, v.25.
- (10) Practical philanthropy and purity, v.27.

- Ch. 2. (11) Good works.
 - (a) As a demonstration of faith, v.18.
 - (b) Cooperating with, and perfecting faith, vs.21-25.
- (12) Heavenly wisdom, vs.17,18.

PART II. The Marks of False Profession.

- Ch. 1. (1) Careless and forgetful hearing of the Word, vs.22-24.
- (2) The semblance of religion, accompanied by the unbridled tongue, v.26.
- Ch. 2. (3) Respect of persons; honoring the rich and despising the poor, vs.1-9.
- (4) Partial obedience to the law, vs.10-11.
- (5) Unmercifulness, v.13.
- (6) Mere profession of faith unaccompanied by acts of mercy and holiness, vs.14-16.
- (7) Inactive faith, vs.17,18.

- (8) Intellectual assent to truth, without change of character, vs.19,20.
- Ch. 3. (9) The unbridled tongue, destructive in its influence, vs.1-8.
- (10) Blessings and cursings proceeding from the same mouth, vs.9-12.
- (11) Envy, strife and satanic wisdom, vs.14-16.
- Ch. 4. (12) Unrest and unholy passions, vs.1,2.
- (13) Unanswered prayer and worldliness, vs.3,4.
- (14) Pride, stubbornness, impurity, double-mindedness, and impenitence, vs.5-9.
- (15) Evil speaking and uncharitable judgment, vs.11,12.
- (16) Presumption in arranging future business enterprises, vs.13-16.
- (17) Neglect of known duty, v.17.

PART III. Warnings, Exhortations, and Instructions.

- Ch. 5. (1) Warnings to the rich.
- Concerning future misery, vs.1,2.
 - Respecting hoarded wealth, and withholding the wages of the poor, vs.3,4.
 - Concerning pleasure seeking and persecution of the righteous, vs.5,6.
- (2) Exhortations in view of the coming of the Lord.
- To be patient and steadfast, refraining from murmuring against one another, vs.7-10.
 - To follow the example of the prophets and Job, in patient endurance, vs.10,11.
 - To refrain entirely from oaths, v.12.
- (3) Instructions respecting prayer, confession of faults, and soul-winning.
- Prayer in time of trouble and for the sick, vs.13-15.
 - The confession of faults and intercessory prayer, v.16.
 - Effectual prayer illustrated by Elijah, vs.16-18.
 - The duty of soul-winning, vs.19, 20.

32—The First Epistle of Peter

PETER, The apostle Peter, See Text Cyclo. p. 2746.

It was not the original Simon Peter, impulsive and full of weaknesses, whom Christ called, Simon," Mk.14.37; Lu.22.31; Jn.21.15-17.

It was the Peter Christ prophesied should become a rock, Jn.1.42. The same man chastened by years of suffering and trial, and strengthened by the baptism of the Holy Spirit.

The epistle evidently belongs to the later period of his life.

TIME AND PLACE OF WRITING UNCERTAIN. The Babylon referred to ch.5.13, may or may not have been the city on the Euphrates river. Many think it was Rome, figuratively called Babylon.

TO WHOM ADDRESSED. To the elect scattered throughout Asia Minor.

Probably to the whole body of Christians in that region, both Jew and Gentile converts. To the churches largely founded by Paul, Peter sends this spiritual message of encouragement, instruction, and admonition.

PURPOSE. In writing this epistle, Peter obeyed two specific commands which Jesus had given him.

(1) To encourage and strengthen the brethren, Lu.22.32.

(2) To feed the flock of God, Jn.21.15-17.

KEY WORD, "Suffering," it occurs fifteen, or more, times in the epistle.

KEY TEXT, ch.4.1.

CENTRAL THEME, Victory over Suffering as Exemplified in the Life of Christ.

SYNOPSIS.

Salutation, vs.1,2.

PART I. The Glorious Salvation.

- Ch. 1. (1) A living hope centering in the resurrection of Christ, v.3.
- (2) An incorruptible and fadeless inheritance, v.4.
- (3) A Divine power by which saints are kept victorious in the midst of suffering.
- Through faith, v.5.
 - Rejoicing in trials, v.6.
 - Coming forth as gold refined in the fire, at Christ's appearing, v.7.
 - In love and joy unspeakable, v.8.
- (4) The Mysterious Plan.
- Concerning which the prophets have inquired, fortelling Christ's sufferings and the glory that should be revealed in the latter times: a wonder to angels, vs.10-12.
 - It calls for soberness, obedience, unworldliness, purity, and godly reverence, on the part of believers, vs.13-17.
 - The infinite cost of, vs.18,19.
 - Foreordained before the foundation of the world, vs.20,21.

PART II. The Believer's Life, in view of the Great Salvation.

Ch. 1. (cont.)

- (1) To be purified and regenerated through the agency of the eternal truth, and manifesting brotherly love, vs.22-25.
- Ch. 2. (2) To be freed from all evil propensities and having an eager desire for the milk of the word by which to grow, vs.1-3.
- (3) Becoming living stones in a spiritual temple, of which Christ is the "chief corner stone," vs.5,6.
- (4) Regarding Christ as precious, he who is rejected and a stumbling block to unbelievers, vs.7,8.

PART III. The Believers' Position and Duties.

Ch. 2. (cont.)

- (1) Honorable and holy as the people of God, and should show forth praise unto their divine deliverer, vs.9,10.

- (2) As strangers and pilgrims abstaining from sensuality, v.11.
- (3) Civil and social duties: Irreproachable conduct before the world, obedience to the powers that be, thus silencing hostile criticism, vs.12-15.
- (4) General good citizenship, vs.16,17.
- (5) Duties in the household of faith.
 - (a) Of servants to be obedient and patient, even when suffering wrongfully; thus pleasing God, vs.18-20.
 - (b) Considering Christ, the model sufferer and sin-bearer, vs. 21-25.
 - (c) Of wives, to be chaste, and adorned with spiritual graces, vs.1-6.
 - (d) Of husbands, to be considerate of their wives, v.7.
 - (e) Of all, to be compassionate, pitiful, courteous, and forgiving, vs.8,9.
 - (f) Remembering that long life and answers to prayer are promised to those who bridle their tongues, forsake evil, do good and live peaceably, vs.10-13.

PART IV. Instructions and Encouragements respecting Suffering.

Ch. 3. (cont.)

- (1) Suffering for righteousness' sake is a cause for rejoicing, not fear, and should be accompanied by a readiness to testify concerning Christian experience, and a good life, vs.14-17.
- (2) The example of Christ's vicarious suffering, spiritual work, and his exaltation, vs.18-22.

Ch. 4. (3) The sacrificial sufferings of Christ

- call for self-denial, consecration to God, and the abandonment of all former sensual excesses, vs.1-3.
- (4) Parenthesis, instructions concerning the practical duties of the Christian life which glorify God, vs.7-11.
- (5) Fiery trials not to be regarded as strange, but to be endured joyfully, v.12.
- (6) Suffering with and for Christ, to be endured joyfully, knowing that it leads to spiritual glory, vs.13,14.
- (7) Never to suffer as evil doers, but when called to suffer as Christians, glorify God, and commit their souls into his keeping, vs.15-19.

PART V. Final Exhortations and Warnings.

- Ch. 5. (1) To the elders of the church respecting the spirit in which the flock is to be fed, vs.1-4.
- (2) To both the young and old enjoining humility and trustfulness, vs.5-7.
- (3) Warnings against the devil, vs.8,9.
- (5) Benediction and greetings, vs.10-14.

34—The First Epistle of John

PETER, The apostle John. No. 1902.

PLACE AND DATE UNCERTAIN. Probably written from Ephesus near the end of the first century.

WHOM ADDRESSED. Apparently to the church at large, as it has no greetings, farewells or other personal allusions; hence it belongs to the general epistles."

It calls believers by affectionate titles, as "little children," ch.2.1,18,28; 3.7,18; 4.4; 5.21; and "beloved," ch.3.2,21; 4.1,7,11.

PROPOSES. The writer mentions four reasons for writing this epistle to believers. Viz.: To add to their joy, ch.1.4; to guard them against sin, vs.2.1; to warn them against false teachers, vs.2.26; to strengthen their faith in Christ and assure them of eternal life, ch.5.13.

KEY WORDS, "Fellowship," "Know," "Love."
CENTRAL THEME, God is Life, Light, and Righteous Love. His character calls for holy living and brotherly love on the part of believers.
CHARACTERISTICS. This may be entitled, "The Epistle of Certainties."

It opens with a positive statement of experiential knowledge of Christ, ch.1.1-3.

It lays great stress upon the spiritual knowledge obtainable by believers. The word "Know," its equivalent, appears over thirty times.

We have selected seven important instances where the words "We know," appear.
"We Know"

- (1) That a righteous life indicates regeneration, ch.2.29; 5.18.
- (2) That we shall be like Christ at his coming, ch.3.2.
- (3) That Christ came to take away our sins, ch.3.5.
- (4) That brotherly love indicates that we have passed from death unto life, ch.3.14.
- (5) That he abideth in us by the witness of the Spirit, ch.3.24.
- (6) That we have eternal life, ch.5.13.
- (7) That our prayers are answered, ch.5.15.

SYNOPSIS.

PART I. God is Life and Light.

- Ch. 1. (1) Manifested in Christ, vs.1,2.
 (2) The purpose of the epistle, vs.3,4.
 (3) Conditions of divine fellowship.
 (a) Walking in the light, vs.5-7.
 (b) Confession of sin, vs.8-10.
Ch. 2. (c) Acceptance of Christ as advocate and propitiatory sacrifice, vs.1,2.
 (4) Obedience the test of fellowship.
 (a) Following Christ's example, vs. 3-6.
 (b) Obedience to the new commandment of love, is abiding in the light, vs.7-11.
 (5) A message to different classes of believers concerning spiritual knowledge and overcoming the wicked one, vs.12-14.
 (6) A warning against the love of the world, vs.15-17.
 (7) The rise of antichrists, their apostasy, and denial of Christ, is a sign of the last time, vs.18-23.
 (8) An exhortation to abide in the truth, with the assurance that the divine anointing will give all needed instruction, vs.24-27.
 (9) Abiding gives confidence, and righteousness is a mark of the new birth, vs.28,29.

PART II. God is Righteous Love.

- Ch. 3. (1) His love manifested in the exaltation of believers to sonship, vs.1,2.
 (2) The test of sonship is righteous living, vs.3-10.
 (3) Brotherly love the distinguishing mark of spiritual life, vs.11-15.
 (4) Love manifests itself in sacrifice, not in words only, vs.16-18.
 (5) The outcome of love is assurance and answered prayer, vs.19-22.
 (6) Faith and brotherly love essential to fellowship with God, vs.23,24.
Ch. 4. (7) Parentship. The spirits of truth and error in the world and the methods of testing them.
 (a) Their attitude toward the incarnation of Christ determines their origin and character, vs.1-3.
 (b) The world-marks of antichrists, vs.4-6.

(8) The divine love.

- (a) In the human heart indicates regeneration, v.7.
- (b) Manifested in the incarnation and sacrificial work of Christ, vs.8-10.
- (c) Indwelling in believers begets brotherly love, and inspires testimony concerning Christ as Saviour of mankind, vs. 11-16.
- (e) When perfected gives assurance and casts out fear, vs.17,18.
- (f) Kindles love to God and brotherly love, vs.19-21.

PART III. Faith and Love the Overcoming Principles in the Conflict with the World and All Evil Powers.

- Ch. 5. (1) The love-life of obedience, vs.1-3.
 (2) The victory of faith, vs.4,5.
 (3) The divine witnesses in earth and heaven, vs.6-9.
 (4) The witness of the Spirit, v.10.
 (5) The gift of eternal life through the Son of God, vs.11-13.
 (6) The certainty of answered prayer, vs.14,15.
 (7) Dealing with the sinful brother, v.16.
 (8) The believer's four-fold knowledge, vs.18-20.

4285—The Second Epistle of John

WRITER, The apostle John. No. 1902.

TO WHOM ADDRESSED, To the "Elect lady and her children." Some think this refers to a Christian matron and her family living in Ephesus, others that a church and its members are personified.

If the first supposition is correct, this is the only book in the New Testament addressed to a woman.

EMPHATIC WORDS, "Love," which occurs four times, and "Truth," five times.

PURPOSE. The epistle was apparently written to warn friends against heresy and association with false teachers, vs.7-11.

SYNOPSIS.

Main theme, a discourse on truth and error.

I. Divine Truth in its relation to believers.

- (a) Unites them in fellowship, v.1.
- (b) Eternally dwells in them, v.2.
- (c) In connection with love, characterizes the spirit of their greetings, v.3.
- (d) Loving obedience to, the pathway in which they walk, vs.4-6.

II. Worldly Error.

- (a) Has many deceitful advocates, v.7.
- (b) Denies the incarnation of Christ, v.7.
- (c) Must be guarded against, v.8.
- (d) Departs from the teachings of Christ, v.9.
- (e) The peril of fellowship with its followers, vs.10,11.

III. Concluding words, vs.12,13.

4286—The Third Epistle of John

WRITER, The apostle John. No. 1902.

ADDRESSED, To Gaius, v.1.

KEY NOTE. Christian hospitality.

KEY VERSE, v.8.

SYNOPSIS. The subject-matter centers around three characters, Gaius, Diotrephes and Demetrius, and some itinerant evangelists.

I. Gaius, to whom the epistle was written.

- (1) The identity of this man.

This cannot be positively determined. There are several persons by this name mentioned in the New Testament. The one spoken of by Paul, Ro.16.23, may very likely be the same man to whom John writes but it is entirely uncertain.

- (2) Characteristics of,

- (a) Worthy of the affection of John, vs.1,2.
- (b) A consistent Christian, walking in the truth, vs.3,4.
- (c) Given to hospitality, vs.5,6.

II. Diotrephes, apparently a leading man in the church.

- (a) Ambitious and bigoted, v.9.
- (b) Assuming to be an over-lord of the vineyard will receive a merited rebuke from the apostle when he comes, v.10.

III. Demetrius, In contrast to Diotrephes, a model churchman of excellent reputation, v.12.

IV. Christian evangelists.

- (a) Itinerant spiritual laborers, rendering gratuitous service for Christ's sake, v.7.
- (b) Worthy of hearty welcome and hospitality although bitterly opposed by the arrogant Diotrephes, vs.8-11.

V. The closing salutation, vs.13,14.

4287—The Epistle of Jude

WRITER, Probably Jude, the brother of James. No. 1964. If this is true he may have been a brother of our Lord, Mk.6.3; Gal.1.19.

The Lord's brothers did not believe in him at first, Jn.7.5; but after his resurrection they became his followers, Ac.1.14. It is possible that Jude because of his early unbelief, felt that he was not worthy to sign himself as brother of Jesus, so in writing the epistle he called himself a servant, v.1.

MAIN PURPOSE. The epistle was evidently written especially to warn the church against immoral teachers and alarming heresies which were endangering the faith of believers.

KEY VERSES, vs.3,4.

SYNOPSIS.

- (1) The salutation, vs.1,2.
- (2) The occasion of the epistle and an exhortation concerning the defense of the faith because of the invasion of immoral and heretical teachers, vs.3,4.
- (3) Warnings from God's dealings with sinners in the past.
 - (a) The punishment of Israel for unbelief, v.5.
 - (b) The fate of the fallen angels and the corrupt Sodomites, vs.6,7.

-) The characteristics of the depraved teachers described, and a woe pronounced upon them, vs.8-13.
-) References to prophecies.
 - (a) Of Enoch, who foretold the doom of ungodly men, vs.14-16.
 - (b) Of the apostles, concerning mockers in the last days, vs.17-19.
-) A summary of Christian duties:
 - (a) Mutual edification and prayerfulness, v.20.
 - (b) Love toward God and trust in Christ for eternal salvation, v.21.
 - (c) Activity in soul-winning, vs.22,23.
-) The benediction, vs.24,25.

8—The Book of Revelation

TER, The apostle John. No. 1902.

CE. Probably the Island of Patmos, off the eastern coast of Asia Minor, where John was banished "for the Word of God and for the testimony of Jesus Christ."

TE, uncertain; according to traditional opinion about A.D. 96.

THORITY. It is declared to be the revelation of Jesus Christ, ch.1.1.

METHODS OF INTERPRETATION. These have been exceedingly varied, and often fantastic. Hundreds of volumes have been written upon this book, not one of which has been generally satisfactory.

This is due to the widely diversified opinions concerning its meaning and teachings.

There have been three principal schools of thought which have dealt with the subject matter.

(1) The Preterists, who believe that the prophecies of Revelation have already been fulfilled.

(2) The Futurists who hold that the book contains a forecast of universal history.

(3) The Eclectics, who lay stress upon the spiritual elements of the book, and do not attempt to dramatize upon the meaning of the details of the more mysterious visions.

They believe that there are three classes of passages in the Apocalypse. Those that are very near in their spiritual teaching; those that are more mysterious, and yet contain an element of truth which is instructive; and finally there are some of the visions that are so veiled, that it is futile from our present standpoint of knowledge to give any positive interpretation of them.

It is probable that some of the prophecies contain two elements, the near and the far. The former referring especially to the events during John's time, or in the immediate future; the latter, dealing with events of coming ages.

NUMERICAL FEATURES.

The Apocalypse is the only book in the Bible that contains a special promise to obedient readers (ch.1.3), and at the same time pronounces a curse upon those who tamper with its contents, ch.22.18,19.

The number Seven is the ruling number of the book; as:

Seven candlesticks, churches, seals, trumpets, thunders, vials, Spirits, stars, &c.
Seven "No mores," see Text Cyclo. No. 1359.

- (3) The closing chapters of Revelation contain a striking contrast to the opening chapters of Genesis.

Genesis speaks of the creation of the sun, the entrance of sin into the world, the curse pronounced, Satan's triumph, the exclusion from the "tree of life."

Revelation tells of a place where there will be no need of the sun, sin banished, no more curse, Satan overthrown, admission to the "tree of life."

PLAN OF STUDY.

Although this book has often been neglected because of its mysterious character, yet there are many viewpoints from which it may be profitably studied without any attempt at dogmatic or arbitrary interpretation. If the book is written in code, we make no claim of having discovered a key that will unlock all its mysteries.

We simply suggest the following subject as a profitable one to pursue.

SUGGESTED THEME, The Moral and Spiritual Conflict of the Ages.

CENTRAL FIGURE, The Lamb. At last victor over all the allied powers of evil. The Lamb is mentioned about thirty times.

EPOCHAL EVENTS. There are many such events in the book, we suggest two, which should be kept in mind in studying the visions.

(1) The birth of the man child, regarded by many as the incarnation of Jesus Christ, ch.12.

(2) The sounding of the seventh trumpet (ch.11.15), which heralded his world-wide victory.

SYNOPSIS.

The book may be divided into a series of visions, some of which are partly or wholly veiled, others are comparatively clear in their teachings. It is not always possible to tell just where one vision ends and another begins, but for convenience they may be studied under various numbers, according to the view point of the student.

Ch. 1. (1) Introduction and promise to obedient readers, vs.1-3.

(2) Salutation of John and of the glorified Christ, vs.4-8.

VISION I.

(1) Of the glorified Christ, vs.9-16.

(2) His command to write to the seven churches, v.19.

(3) The message to the churches, chs.2,3.

Ch. 2. (a) To Ephesus, the backslidden church, persistent in service, strong in discipline, but with love growing cold, vs.1-7.

(b) To Smyrna, the poor but truly rich church, facing a period of persecution, vs.8-11.

(c) To Pergamos, the church of evil surroundings, steadfast, but infected with heresy, vs.12-17.

(d) To Thyatira, the church of good works but harboring a false prophetess, vs.18-29.

Ch. 3. (e) To Sardis, the dying church, vs.1-6.

(f) To Philadelphia, the weak, but faithful church, vs.7-13.

- (g) To Laodicea, the lukewarm, self-satisfied church, boasting of her wealth while poor and miserable and blind, vs.14-22.

Recurrent thought, the promises to overcomers, See Text Cyclo. No. 374.

VISION II. Partly Veiled.

- Ch. 4. (1) The vision of God in heaven upon his throne, the creator of the universe, receiving the worship of the living creatures and the four and twenty elders, vs.1-11.

- Ch. 5. (2) The opening of the Seven-sealed Book by the Lamb, the singing of the New Song, and the universal worship of the Lamb. Conjectural interpretation—Christ in his redemptive office alone can unlock the deepest divine mysteries.

- Ch. 6. (3) The opening of the six seals, (veiled), vs.1-17. There have been many widely different interpretations; it is not worth while to add another. One clear lesson, vs.9-11, the saints tested by divine delays. See Divine Delays, Text Cyclo. No. 3607.

VISION III. Partly veiled.

- Ch. 7. vs.1-8, Suggested Thought, God's protection of his chosen people.

VISION IV.

- Ch. 7. Comforting assurances.

- (a) The innumerable host of the redeemed, vs.9,10.
- (b) The means by which they appear in God's presence, vs.13-15.
- (c) Their activities and eternal felicity, vs.15-17.

VISION V. Partly veiled.

- Ch. 8. Momentous event, the opening of the seventh seal, causing silence in heaven. v.1.

Possible explanation, That all the harps and the voices of the angels were stilled by the fact, that during the period of the seventh seal Christ was to leave for his earthly mission.

This is not purely imaginary. The fullness of time was evidently approaching, see (10.6, Revised Version), "There shall be delay no longer," &c. If this conjecture is correct, here in ch.8.1, we are at the very sources of the divine plan of salvation and we shall see the events focusing toward the birth of the man child in the 12th chapter.

In chapter 8, verses 3, 4, the thought appears to be, that the prayers of the saints are ascending to God, for the coming of the messianic kingdom.

- Ch. 9. Then follows a veiled portion of the vision, the sounding of the six trumpets in chapters 8 and 9, apparently announcing impending judgments.

Chs. 10 and 11.

VISION VI. Partly veiled. We can say no more than that the events seem to be moving forward toward the great consummation. This is indicated by the announcement of the mighty angel (10.5-7), that there shall be delay no longer (R.V.), but that the good tidings spoken of by the prophets are about to be fulfilled.

Among so many different opinions it is hard to suggest any interpretation of the "little book" in chapter 10, and the "two witnesses," in chapter 11. Possibly as these immediately precede the vision of the birth of the man child in chapter 12, they may refer to a prophetic period prior to the coming of Christ.

In our studies we suggest that chapters 12-13 contain partly veiled visions connected with the great messianic conflict.

VISION VII.

- Chs. 12 and 13. The great epochal event, The birth of the man child, Christ, and the simultaneous manifestation of the Satan, the powers arrayed to destroy him.

The justification for this view-point is, that during Christ's earthly life the powers of darkness were in frenzied activity. Note the attempt of Herod to destroy the child, the numerous cases of demoniacal possession, and the malignant persecution which resulted in Christ's crucifixion.

We are not seeking to give any detailed interpretation of the mysteries, but call attention to the spiritual weapons by which the victory was to be won, ch.12.11. See Text Cyclo. No. 361.

VISION VIII. Partly veiled.

- Ch. 14. vs.1-13. Without strained interpretation, it is possible to regard this chapter as a prophetic summary of the coming conflict between The Lamb and his enemies.

If this view point is accepted, in the first five verses the one hundred and forty-four thousand would represent the ancient worth of the old dispensation.

Verses 6 and 7, would refer to the opening up of the world-wide missionary campaign. See World-wide Missions, Text Cyclo. No. 2379. Verses 8-11, the preliminary announcement of the final victory. Verses 12, 13, the blessedness of the holy dead.

CHARACTER STUDIES

THE FOLLOWING PAGES CONTAIN BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES OR OUTLINE STUDIES OF THE PROMINENT CHARACTERS OF THE BIBLE

39—Noah, the Ark Builder

ORIGIN AND EARLY LIFE. Nothing is known of his early days. He first appears upon the scene when he was five hundred years old.

His great grandfather, Enoch, was a man of notable piety who, because of divine favor, escaped death by translation, Ge.5.22-24; He.11.5.

His grandfather, Methuselah, was the longest lived man, according to the record in Genesis, ch.5.25-27. His father's name was Lamech, who was apparently a religious man, and gave his child a name that is thought to mean, "rest," Ge.5.29.

THE CONDITION OF SOCIETY IN HIS TIME. He lived in a desperately corrupt age, when men had become so universally depraved that the Lord had determined to destroy the race, Ge.6.1-7. In the midst of this moral darkness Noah's life was radiant with righteousness, Ge.6.8,9.

DIVINE COMMISSION. The earth being deluged with violence, it was divinely revealed to Noah that there was to be a great flood which would destroy man from off the face of the earth.

He was given a strange, and from a human standpoint, apparently impossible task to perform: to build an immense boat or vessel for the preserving of the lives of his own family, and certain members of the animal kingdom. The greatness of the task assigned to him has seldom been fully appreciated by men.

It must be remembered that he was surrounded by a mass of godless unbelievers, who would come to see his work, attracted by curiosity, and remain scoff at him. He would become a laughingstock. He must maintain his faith, and toil on year after year at a task which seemed to indicate that had gone mad.

Considering his surroundings, the magnitude of the work he was called upon to perform, and the many years spent in hard labor, he stands among all the workers of the Bible unsurpassed, if not unequalled, in persistent faith.

The Ark

The dimensions of the ark are uncertain, depending upon the length of the ancient cubit.

We have accepted twenty-one inches as the standard length. For time consumed in building, compare Ge.5.32, with ch.7.6.

It would seem that Noah warned and exhorted the people while he was engaged in his work on the ark, 2 Pe.2.5.

LAST DAYS BEFORE THE FLOOD. The assembling of the animals and fowls and the entrance of Noah and his family into the ark, Ge.7.1-16.

The Lord closes the door of the ark, Ge.7.16.
EVENTS DURING AND AFTER THE FLOOD. The duration of the flood, Ge.7.24; recession of the waters, ch.8.3; the resting of the ark upon land, ch.8.4; the birds sent forth, ch.8.6-12; leaving the ark, ch.8.15-18.

Noah builds an altar, and offers a sacrifice, ch.8.20. He is honored by a divine covenant, ch.9.9-17. He plants a vineyard and yields to temptation, ch.9.21; his death, ch.9.28,29.

4290—Abraham, the Spiritual Pilgrim

INTRODUCTION. The study of the life of Abraham is of great importance because he was chosen of God to become the father of a new spiritual race. Religious seeds were planted in the garden of his heart from which were to spring wonderful results in the church of the future.

He was the file leader of a great spiritual host.

HIS DIVINE CALL. After the death of his father, Terah, he received a message from the Lord calling upon him to separate himself from his old associations and go forth into a new country. He was promised the divine favor, a great posterity, and that he should become a blessing to all the families of the earth.

He obeyed the call, and thus became the leader of that innumerable company of pilgrims who have sought a city whose builder and maker is God, Ge.12.1-4; He.11.8-10.

Most of the important events in his career are connected with his journeys. A map has been prepared showing the main points in his itinerary. By comparing the numbers given in the outline below, with those on the map, the reader will be able to trace the course of his journeys.

- I. (1) to (2), Ur to Haran, Ge.11.31. Death of Abraham's father, Ge.11.32.
- II. (2) to (3), Haran to Shechem, ch.12.1-6. Divine appearance, altar built, ch.12.7.
- III. (3) to (4), Shechem to Bethel, ch.12.8. Altar built, prayer offered.
- IV. (4) to (5), Bethel to Egypt, ch.12.9-11. He denies that Sarah is his wife, vs.11-13.
- V. (5) to (4), Return to Bethel, offers prayer, ch.13.1-4.
- VI. (4) to (6), Bethel to Hebron, altar built, ch.13.18.

VII. (6) to (7), Hebron to Damascus, pursues robbers, rescues Lot and recovers goods, 14.1-16.

VIII. (7) to (6), Return to Hebron, gives tithes Melchizedek, ch.14.16-20. Promise of a son renewed, ch.15.3-5. Ishmael born, ch.16.15; covenant renewed, ch.17.1-8. Name changed, ch.17.5. Intercession for Sodom, ch.18.23-32.

IX. (6) to (9), Hebron to Gerar, ch.20.1. Covenant fulfilled, Isaac born, ch.21.1-3.

X. (9) to (10), Gerar to Beer-sheba, covenant with Abimelech, ch.21.27-34.

XI. (10) to (8), Beer-sheba to Mt. Moriah, altar built, Isaac prepared to be offered as sacrifice, ch.22.1-14.

XII. (8) to (10), Return to Beer-sheba, ch.22.19.

XIII. (10) to (6), Beer-sheba to Hebron, Abraham's death and burial, ch.25.8-10.

THE OUTSTANDING EVENTS AND EXPERIENCES of his life.

The divine Call, Ge.12.1.

— Covenant, Ge.12.2,3; 17.1-6.

— Delay, in the fulfillment of the promise of a son. Compare Ge.12.4, v. ch.21.5. Over twenty years passed before Isaac was born.

His great mistake, Ge.16.3. Sarah's plan to the Almighty.

His great intercession for the cities of the plain, Ge.18.23-32.

The fulfillment of his hopes in the birth of Isaac, Ge.21.5.

His severe test, Ge.22.1,2.

His remarkable faith and obedience, Ge.22.3.

His greatest need supplied, Ge.22.11-13.

CHARACTERISTICS OF ABRAHAM, see Cyclo. No. 15.

Jacob, the Supplanter, Transformed Into Israel, the Prince of God

Other Bible character represents more fully the contrast between the lower and higher nature, than that of Jacob.

Living on the down grade, at times it reaches the heights, only to sink again into the sordid struggle for gain. But it emerges at the very last on the plane of triumphant faith.

Every reader who studies the history of this career can doubt that he was a chosen instrument of God in spite of all his weaknesses.

THOUGHTS. There are two key thoughts which open up his life and throw light upon his history.

The unhappiness produced by family trouble and polygamy.

This fact is illustrated throughout his entire career.

The transforming power of fellowship with God.

This truth shines clearly through all the loftier experiences of this chosen man.

In the diagram below an attempt is made to illustrate the human and divine elements manifested in his life.

The crooked line marks the mountain peaks and low levels of his career.

EARLY LIFE. Down grade, domestic trouble. NOTE: The letters refer to points on the diagram.

A) He cheats his brother, Esau, out of his birthright, Ge.25.29-34.

B) He deceives his aged father, ch.27.1-29.

C) Compelled to flee for his life, it is arranged that he shall go to Haran to choose a wife, ch.27.41; 28.1-5.

NIGHT EXPERIENCE ON A HIGHER LEVEL.

D) The spiritual vision and vow at Bethel, Ge.28.10-22.

IN HARAN. Family trouble continues.

E) The romance of love spoiled by deception concerning his marriage, ch.29.15-30.

F) The long and sordid struggle with his father-in-law, and the jealousy between his wives, ch.30.1-43.

(G) An upward movement, the divine call to return to the promised land, ch.31.3. Departing secretly he is pursued by his father-in-law, ch.31.

(H) On his pathway of obedience he is met by angelic messengers, ch.32.1,2.

ANOTHER GREAT SPIRITUAL EXPERIENCE.

(I) The alarm at his brother's approach with four hundred men causes him to resort to prayer, ch.32.3-12.

(J) He spends a night wrestling with an angel in desperate entreaty. He gains the victory and his name is changed to "Israel," ch.32.24-32. He has an affectionate meeting with his brother, Esau, ch.33.1-16.

(K) His daughter Dinah is defiled, ch.34.1-5.

(L) In a spirit of revenge his sons bring trouble upon him, ch.34.7-31.

(M) Arriving at Bethel, he remembers his former vision there and builds an altar, ch.35.1-15.

III. HIS LATER YEARS. Domestic trouble still continues.

(N) Parental partiality and family jealousy leads to Joseph being sold into Egypt, ch.37.1-36.

(O) Other family troubles, ch.38.1-30.

(P) Joseph's exaltation and the divine call to Egypt, chs.39 to 45; 46.1-4.

HIS LAST DAYS.

(Q) Dying he blesses his grandsons and sons, chs.48,49.

(R) By many it is thought he prophesied the coming of the Messiah, ch.49.10.

FOR HIS CHARACTERISTICS, see Text Cyclo. No. 1837.

4292—Joseph, the Young Man Whose Dreams of Exaltation Came True

I. HIS EARLY LIFE.

(1) The son of Jacob and Rachel, Ge.30.22-24.

(2) The favorite child of his father, ch.37.3.

(3) On account of paternal partiality, hated by his brethren, ch.37.3-11.

(4) Dreams of exaltation, ch.37.5-10.

(5) Sold into Egypt, ch.37.12-28.

II. HIS LIFE IN A FOREIGN LAND, Ge.39.1—50.26

Divine revelations, ch.41. 25—36.

Honoring God, ch.41.16.

Providential circumstances, ch.40.5—8.

III. SEVEN STEPS TO HONOR.

Divine favor, ch.39.21.

Resistance of temptation, ch.39.7—9.

Business fidelity, ch.39.5,6.

Godly influence, Ge.39.2,3.

IV. HIS CHRIST-LIKE SPIRIT SHOWN

(1) In forgiving his brother's sin, ch.45.15.

(2) In his filial devotion, ch.46.29.

(3) In returning good for evil, ch.50.19—21.

For a parallel between Joseph and Daniel, see No. 4300.

For summary of Joseph's life, see Text Cyclo. No. 1917.

(4) He starts immediately upon his career of conquest, Jos.1.10,11.

(5) As he opens the campaign the supernatural events occur, indicating that the Lord is with him.

(a) The river Jordan at flood divides for the passage of the host of Israel, Jos.3.14—17.

(b) The angel of Jehovah appears to Joshua outside the wall of Jericho and gives direction to the plan of attack upon the doomed city, Jos.5.13—15; 6.2.

(c) The divine plan having been carried out, as the people see the signal, the walls of the city fall flat, opening the way for a complete victory, Jos.6.12—21.

(6) Joshua meets with only one reverse, defeat at Ai, teaching the lesson of the necessity of absolute obedience to God's commands, Jos.ch.7.

(7) From this time forward Joshua steadily on until he has destroyed thirty-one kings, and the greater portion of the land is subdued, Jos.11.12,24.

(8) He next divides the land among the tribes, Jos.23.4.

III. His Last Days.

(1) Before his death he delivers a farewell address to Israel in which he counsels the people to be loyal to God and to remain a separate nation, Jos.chs.23,24.

(2) He died, leaving a precious influence on Israel, Jos. 24.29—31.

IV. HIS CONQUEST A TYPE.

The conquest by Joshua over the enemies of Israel may be regarded as a type of the battle of the Christian life with the triune forces of evil, the world, the flesh and the devil, Ep. 6.12.

(1) Joshua's victory was won by faith, as that of the Christian over his world, 1 Jn.5.4.

(2) The fruits of the conquest were soon enjoyed by Joshua's successors, by ignoring the surrender to their old enemies, Jos.3.1—8.

Too often the same thing occurs in the Christian life.

(3) Rest only comes to those who maintain the position they have won, Heb. 4.11.

V. FOR CHARACTERISTICS of Joshua, Text Cyclo. No. 1922.

4293—Joshua, the Soldier of the Lord and Successor of Moses

I. HIS EARLY LIFE AND PREPARATION FOR LEADERSHIP.

(1) He was the son of Nun, of the tribe of Ephraim, Nu.13.8,16.

(2) He was first mentioned at the battle with Amalek, where he led the forces of Israel, Ex.17.9.

(3) He became the servant of Moses, accompanying him part way up Mt. Sinai when the Decalogue was given, and also attended upon him at the tent of meeting, Ex.24.12,13; 33.11.

(4) He was one of the spies sent from Kadesh to view the land of Canaan, Nu.13.8,16.

(5) In conjunction with Caleb, he gave an encouraging report of the land. This resulted in these two worthies being permitted to enter the Promised Land, while all the other adults of their generation perished in the wilderness, Nu.14.6—30.

II. HIS CAREER AS LEADER OF ISRAEL.

(1) He was divinely appointed and ordained as successor of Moses, Nu.27.18—23.

(2) Moses gave him a solemn charge before all Israel, De.31.1—8.

(3) After the death of Moses he is divinely installed as leader, given encouragement as to his task, and instructed concerning the conditions of success, Jos.1.1—9.

4294—Gideon, the Mighty Man of Valor, Jud.6.12.

I. HIS EARLY LIFE AND SURROUNDINGS

(1) He was the son of Joash, of the tribe of Manasseh, Jud.6.11.

(2) In his day Israel had forsaken God and was in an abject condition terrorized by the Midianite robbers who desolated the country and made life intolerable, Jud.6.1—5.

(3) As usual in times of distress Israel repented and "cried unto the Lord," Jud.6.6.

(4) A prophet was sent to rebuke the sinful people, Jud.6.7-10.

GIDEON'S CALL TO DELIVER HIS NATION.

(1) An angel appears and summons him to leadership, Jud.6.11,12.

(2) His excuses:

(a) That the Lord had forsaken Israel, Jud.6.13.

(b) His own unfitness for the task, Jud.6.15.

(3) He is assured of the divine presence with him, of the certainty of success, and given a supernatural sign to encourage his faith, Jud.6.16-21.

THE BATTLE WITH THE MIDIANITES, The outstanding Event in the Career of Gideon.

(1) Events leading up to the battle:

(a) Gideon destroys the altar and grove of Baal and builds an altar to God, Jud.6.24-28.

(b) He is threatened with death by the idolators but is rescued by his father, Jud.6.29-32.

(c) On the assembling of the host of enemies, Gideon blows a trumpet and calls Israel together, Jud.6.33-35.

(2) Two encouragements and a severe test come to Gideon before he makes his attack upon the enemy.

(a) His faith is strengthened by the sign of the fleece, Jud.6.36-40.

(b) His faith is severely tested by the reduction of his army from thirty-two thousand to three hundred, Jud.7.2-8.

(c) He visits the camp of the foe and is greatly encouraged by over-hearing one of the Midianites relate a dream to his fellow soldier, Jud.7.9-14.

THE VICTORY.

(1) The unique plan of attack, Jud.7.15-18.

(2) The overwhelming defeat of the Midianites, Jud.7.19 to 8.21.

SUBSEQUENT EVENTS IN GIDEON'S CAREER.

(1) He is offered the crown of Israel and refuses it, Jud.8.22,23.

(2) He foolishly makes a golden ephod which becomes a snare to Israel, Jud.8.24-27.

(3) He judges Israel forty years, Jud.8.28.

(4) He died in a good old age, Jud.8.32.

FOR HIS SPECIAL CHARACTERISTICS, see Text Cyclo. No. 1414.

4295—Samuel, the Upright Judge

Synopsis of His Life, 1 Sam.chs.1-25.

I. HIS GODLY MOTHER.

(1) He was born in answer to her prayers, ch.1.9-11.

(2) Dedicated to the Lord before his birth, ch.1.11.

(3) Taken to Shiloh to be trained by the priest, while very young, ch.1.24-28.

(4) Her unfeeling love led her to make him a little coat every year, ch.2.19.

II. HIS REMARKABLE BOYHOOD.

(1) He ministered before the Lord while yet a child, ch.2.18.

(2) He had what is regarded by many as the most wonderful call to religious service of any boy in the Bible, ch.3.1-18.

III. HIS MATURE YEARS.

(1) As he matured the Lord gave him special revelations and he became a prophet, ch.3.19-21.

(2) Like Moses and Christ, there was a considerable period in his life of which we have no detailed record.

IV. AFTER THE DEATH OF ELI HE BECOMES JUDGE OF ISRAEL.

(1) Some time after the return of the ark by the Philistines, he assembles the people at Mizpeh, and calls upon them to repent of their idolatry and turn to God, ch.7.3-6.

(2) Hearing of the assembly of the people, the Philistines gather together to make war, ch.7.7.

(3) Samuel prays and offers a sacrifice, and a great thunder storm terrifies the enemies of Israel, leading to their utter defeat, ch.7.10,11.

(4) During his judgeship he held court in different places, ch.7.15,16.

V. HIS OLD AGE.

(1) He appointed his sons judges over Israel, ch.8.1.

(2) His sons' wickedness gave the people an excuse to demand a king, ch.8.3-5.

(3) Israel's desire for a king was really a rejection of the Lord, and Samuel tries in vain to dissuade them from their decision, ch.8.19-22.

(4) At the command of the Lord he anoints Saul first king of Israel, ch.10.1-9.

(5) He calls upon the people to witness to his own integrity, ch.12.1-5.

(6) Saul having become disobedient to God, Samuel announces his coming fall, ch.15.1-29.

(7) He anoints David as future king over Israel, ch.16.1-13.

(8) He established what is thought to be the first school of the prophets, ch.19.20.

(9) He died, mourned by all Israel, ch.25.1.

For a condensed summary of his life, see Text Cyclo. No. 3138.

4296—David, the Greatest of the Kings of Israel

I. HIS PLACE IN HISTORY. He is one of the most prominent figures in the history of the world; a mountain peak among the Bible characters. He is the most famous ancestor of Christ. Jesus is not called the Son of Abraham, or the Son of Jacob, but the Son of David.

II. HIS REAL CHARACTER. His life was a strange admixture of good and evil. It was filled with noble deeds, fine aspirations and splendid accomplishments; yet it was stained with gross sins.

No Bible character more fully illustrates the moral range of human nature.

It seems impossible to conceive that the man who wrote the twenty-third Psalm could commit the sin that David did against Uriah, the Hittite.

But the spirit of the times in which he lived must be considered, and the temptation connected with unlimited power.

In the early period of his life he is mentioned as a man after God's own heart, 1 S.13.14. This was only true when he kept the divine commandments. It may be said to his credit that he never became an idolator and that he was loyal to the Lord in his testimony and worship.

The fact that the general trend of his life was eminently religious and spiritual, if not always consistent, together with his great genius, accounts for the very high place he occupies in Hebrew history.

HIS OUTSTANDING CHARACTERISTIC was his versatility.

- (1) In his youth he was an athlete, 1 S.17.34-36.
- (2) He was a fine musician, his reputation was such that he was sent for to play before the king, 1 S.16.14-23.

- (3) His poetic genius was of the very highest order. He wrote some of the greatest masterpieces of spiritual literature, a large number of the Psalms are accredited to him.

No other poetry has been so constantly used by the church through all the centuries as the Psalms of David.

- (4) He was an able general and conducted his military campaigns with great success.

- (5) He has generally been considered as the greatest king of Israel. He displayed unusual wisdom in the administration of government.

SYNOPSIS OF HIS CAREER.

I. HIS EARLY LIFE.

- (1) Spent on his father's farm at Bethlehem; he was the youngest of eight sons, 1 S.16.10,11.
- (2) As a shepherd he showed great courage in protecting the flock, 1 S.17.34-36.
- (3) He was divinely chosen to succeed King Saul, and quietly anointed by the prophet Samuel, 1 S.16.12,13.

II. HIS SERVICE UNDER SAUL.

- (1) He became the king's harpist, 1 S.16.14-23.

NOTE: The chronological order of events during this period is somewhat uncertain.

- (2) After remaining at court for a time he returns to the farm, ch.17.15.

- (3) He next appears as champion of Israel and kills the giant, Goliath, who results in a great victory for God's people, 1 S.17.25-53.

- (4) This heroic feat wins the admiration of Jonathan, the king's son, but praisings of the people given to David arouse the hatred of Saul, 1 S.18.1-4.

- (5) Soon David is compelled to flee for his life, ch.19.

III. DAVID AS A FUGITIVE.

This is a dark period in his career. Pursued by the deadly hatred of King Saul, David led the perilous life of an outlaw. But there were some bright spots in the dark record.

The magnanimous intercession of Jonathan securing David's temporary restoration to the king's favor, ch.19.4-7.

The generosity of David in twice sparing his enemy's life, 1 S.24.1-15; ch.26.1-20.

IV. DAVID AS KING.

- (1) After the death of Saul, the tribe of Judah anoints him as king and he reigns seven years in Hebron, 2 S.5.1-5.

- (2) At the death of Ishbosheth, the son of Saul, David becomes king of all Israel, 2 S.5.3.

NOTABLE EVENTS OF HIS LATER YEARS.

- (1) The capture of Jerusalem and the establishment of the capitol there, 2 S.5.6-10.

- (2) The bringing of the ark to Jerusalem, 2 S.6.1-11; 1 Chr.15.1-29.

- (3) The military victories and enlargement of the kingdom, 2 S.chs.8,10.

- (4) His sin against Uriah, the Hittite, 2 S.chs.11,12.

- (5) For his penitence, see Ps.51.

- (6) Absalom's rebellion against his father, 2 S.chs.15-18.

- (7) David's preparation for building the temple, 1 Chr.22.5,14; 29.2.

V. HIS LAST DAYS.

- (1) He appoints his son, Solomon, as successor, 1 K.1.11-39.

- (2) Gives him a solemn charge, 1 K.2.1-9.

- (3) His death, 1 Chr.29.26-28.

4297—Solomon, King of Israel, the Man of Wisdom and Faith

I. HIS PARENTAGE.

He was the son of David and Bathsheba, 2 S.12.24,25.

He was both fortunate and unfortunate in his parentage and home surroundings.

He was fortunate in having a father, David, a great genius, who on the whole eminently religious.

He was unfortunate, in that there were some elements in his father's example that would inevitably have a pernicious effect upon a young man's life.

He was reared in a home where polygamy was practiced and hence there was much jealousy and strife.

ACCESSION TO THE THRONE. David, having many sons, had promised that Solomon should be his successor, and he was anointed king before his father's death, 1 K.1.17-39.

EARLY YEARS OF HIS REIGN. Considering the age in which he lived, he began his reign well, but made a fatal mistake in choosing a heathen king's daughter for his wife, 1 K.3.1.

This no doubt was an act of political expediency, and was the first of his foreign alliances, all of which had much to do later on with his moral downfall.

HIS WISDOM, was the special gift of God. Early in his reign he had a vision at Gibeon, in which the Lord appeared to him and told him to ask what he would have.

He confessed his weakness and ignorance and said, "Give thy servant an understanding heart." Because of his wise choice his request was granted, and he was promised by the Lord that he should be the wisest of men and have great riches and honor. This promise was fulfilled for he excelled in wisdom all the great men of his times. He spake three thousand proverbs, and his songs numbered a thousand and five.

His fame spread abroad over the world, 1 K.4.29-34.

HIS POLICY AND ENTERPRISES. He carried out the plans of his father, David, consolidated the kingdom and engaged in many commercial ventures, while his wealth and renown grew apace.

His greatest enterprise was the erection of the temple at Jerusalem, in which he was occupied seven years, and it was most elaborately adorned, 1 K.chs.5,6.

At the completion of the work Solomon offered a dedicatory prayer, 2 Chr.6.12 to 7.3.

HIS LATER YEARS.

He was honored by the memorable visit of the Queen of Sheba, 1 K.10.1-13.

As he increased in wealth and honor his love of display grew upon him, and he maintained a most luxurious and extravagant establishment beyond what the resources of his people would warrant, 1 K.10.14-29. This led up to social discontent and prepared the way later on for the disruption of the kingdom. 1 K.12.4-19.

HIS MORAL DOWNFALL AND IDOLATRY. At last he plunged into sensuality and was influenced by his many wives to introduce the worship of false gods into Jerusalem, 1 K.11.1-8. He was sharply rebuked by the Lord for his apostasy, and the disruption of the kingdom in his son's time, was foretold, ch.11.9-13.

THE QUESTION OF HIS REPENTANCE. Of his actual end nothing positive is known. Whether he finally repented and returned to God has been warmly debated by students of his history.

Those who believe that he wrote the substance of the Book of Ecclesiastes, see him there wandering in the labyrinth of human philosophy and seeming at last to emerge into the light of faith in Divine Providence.

His life furnishes a great warning. He is known as the wisest man, yet his wisdom did not teach him self-control. He taught well but failed to practice his own precepts. He describes the fool in the Book of Proverbs and thus draws a vivid picture of his own failings.

For his philosophy, see the Analysis of the Book of Ecclesiastes, No. 4243.

4298—Elijah, the Prophet of Fire

I. FACTS CONCERNING HIS ORIGIN AND APPEARANCE.

Nothing is known of his parentage.

He is one of the most unique and dramatic characters of Bible history. Rugged in appearance and dress, he is a prototype of John the Baptist, 2 K.1.8; Mt.3.4.

II. THE MAIN EVENTS OF HIS LIFE present a series of pictorial scenes of thrilling interest.

FIRST SCENE. His unheralded appearance before the idolatrous king, Ahab, to announce a prolonged drought, 1 K.17.1.

SECOND SCENE. In the wilderness by the brook Cherith, where he has gone by divine command to depend for his food upon supplies brought by unclean birds, 1 K.17.2-6.

Here his faith is tested by the drying up of the brook, 1 K.17.7.

THIRD SCENE, AT ZAREPHATH. Outside the famine stricken city, a widow woman is gathering sticks to cook her last meal.

The prophet is sent to her to be fed, 1 K.17.8,9.

On arrival he begs for a drink of water and a piece of bread, but she tells him that her supplies are reduced to a handful of meal and a little oil in a cruse, 1 K.17.12.

Then comes the divine, "Fear not," and the promise of plentiful supplies to the end of the famine, 1 K.17.13,14.

FOURTH SCENE. In the loft, at the widow's home at Zarephath.

The strain of the famine has been too great for her son and he lies dead before the prophet.

We see Elijah by a mighty struggle in prayer, bring the boy to life again, ch.17.17-24.

FIFTH SCENE. False prophets summoned. Elijah suddenly appears before King Ahab and commands him to summon the false prophets to Mount Carmel, 1 K.18.17-19.

SIXTH SCENE. On Mount Carmel.

(1) The prophet calls the people to a decision concerning God, and challenges the prophets of Baal to a fiery test, 1 K.18.20-24.

(2) The failure of the false prophets, vs.26-29.

(3) After the prayer of Elijah the divine fire descends and consumes his sacrifice, vs.30-38.

(4) The verdict of the people that Jehovah is the true God, and the destruction of the false prophets, vs.39,40.

SEVENTH SCENE. The end of the drought. Elijah's prayer for rain. The coming of the storm, the prophet runs before the king to the entrance of Jezreel, ch.18.41-46.

EIGHTH SCENE. The prophet under a juniper tree in the wilderness, having fled from the wrath of Queen Jezebel. Discouraged and exhausted, he desires to die, but is fed by an angel, and journeys on to Mount Horeb, ch.19.1-8.

NINTH SCENE. The prophet pours out his complaint to the Lord. He is given a new and better revelation of the divine character and methods, ch.19.9-13. He is commanded to anoint two prospective kings and his own successor, ch.19.15-17.

TENTH SCENE. On a farm at Abel-meholah. Elijah finds Elisha plowing and casts his own mantle upon him to indicate that this farmer is called to be his successor, ch.19.19-21.

ELEVENTH SCENE. In the vineyard of Naboth. The prophet finds King Ahab come to take possession of the inheritance which he had murdered Naboth to obtain. He pronounces an awful doom upon the wicked king and his wife, ch.21.17-24.

TWELFTH SCENE. Two companies of soldiers are sent by the king of Samaria to capture the prophet and he calls down fire from heaven and destroys them, 2 K.1.1-12; later on he announces the doom of the idolatrous king, v.16.

THIRTEENTH SCENE. The last journey of Elijah. Accompanied by Elisha, he travels through the country until they reach the Jordan river, where Elijah smites the waters with his mantle and the two pass over on dry ground. As they stand conversing together Elisha makes his farewell request. Suddenly a chariot of fire separates the two friends, and Elijah is taken up by a whirlwind into heaven, 2 K.2.1-11.

POST MORTEM SCENE. On the mount of transfiguration Elijah reappears with Moses and talks with Christ, Mt.17.3.
For reference-chain and summary of his life, see Text Cyclo. No. 1112.

4299—Elisha, the Prophet Who Received a Double Portion of the Spirit

I. There is a striking resemblance between the life of Elisha and that of Elijah. Not only do their names sound alike, but the main events of their lives run in much the same channels.

They are twin figures in Hebrew history.

II. A PARALLEL BETWEEN THE TWO PROPHETS.

BOTH

- smote the waters of the river Jordan and passed over on dry ground, 2 K.2.8; 2.14.
- Bring waters of refreshment in times of drought, 1 K.18.41-45; 2 K.3.9-20.
- Increase a widow's store of food, 1 K.17.10-16; 2 K.4.1-7.

—Raise only sons to life, 1 K.17.17-24; 2 K.18-35.

—Perform miracles for persons outside boundaries of Israel, 1 K.17.9-16; 2 K.1-15.

—Pronounce sentences upon kings, 1 K.19.22; 2 K.8.7-10.

—Call down vengeance upon unbelievers, 2 K.1.9-12; 2.23-25.

In spite of the points of resemblance between the miracles performed by the two prophets, Elijah was not a mere echo of his fiery predecessor. There was a marked difference between the temperaments of the two men, and their general attitude toward society.

Elijah was a solitary figure like John the Baptist. His life was largely spent in an unrelenting struggle with the evils of his times, and he had his periods of great depression.

Not so Elisha; his gift of "a double portion of the Spirit" enabled him to lead a triumphant life as he mingled with his fellow men.

We have no record that he ever complained of his lot, fled from his enemies, or lost his courage.

Even on his death bed he seemed to be full of power, and gave commands to a king.

For a summary of his life, see, "A Model Spiritual Leader," Text Cyclo. No. 1117.

His reception of a double portion of the Spirit is demonstrated by the fact that he lived a victorious life, and also that he performed a greater number of miracles than any other prophet except Moses. See "Miracles," Text Cyclo. No. 2367.

OUTSTANDING LESSON of his life, The Power of Divine Grace.

4300—Daniel, the Statesman Prophet

Nothing is known of his family, but he is thought to have been of noble descent, Dan.1.3.

He was carried captive to Babylon during the reign of Jehoiakim, ch.1.2. He, and three companions, because of their special qualifications were selected to be trained for the king's service, ch.1.6.

There is a marked resemblance between Daniel's career and that of Joseph.

Both were carried captive in youth, were model young men, and found employment in a king's court. Both were unjustly persecuted, through hardships becoming stepping stones to honor, and through the interpretation of dreams were exalted to rulership. Both lived pure lives in the midst of corrupt courts and died in foreign lands.

Daniel, like Moses, was both a statesman and a prophet.

As a seer he was given a telescopic vision which reached a longer range than that of most of the prophets. He saw beyond the coming of Christ and beheld enthronement as King of kings.

He is particularly a prophet of the last days.

For the moral conflict in which he and his companions were engaged, see the Analysis of the Book of Daniel, No. 4249.

The Gospel of John as a Picture Gallery. This Gospel presents a series of pictures, in each of which Christ is the central figure.

Author of the book, see "Beloved Disciple", Cyclo., 1902.

Key verse, chap. 20.31, "But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name." See Cyclo., 424.

Each of the 21 chapters contains a striking portrayal of some aspect of the character, or work, of the Saviour.

The first two chapters contain companion pieces.

In chap. 1, he is The Son of God, his deity is portrayed (ver. 1), "In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. * * * (ver. 14), and we beheld his glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth." See Christ's Divinity, Cyclo., 701-718.

In chap. 2, he is The Son of Man. Here we have a scene illustrating his perfect humanity. He appears as a guest at the marriage in Cana of Galilee. He mingles with men in their social activities. See Christ a Guest, Cyclo., 3400; Humanity of Christ, 719-723.

In chap. 3, he is The Divine Teacher, instructing a "master of Israel." Nicodemus says (ver. 2), "We know that thou art a teacher come from God." See Christ, Teacher, Cyclo., 3555.

In chap. 4, he is The Soul-winner. Here we see the steps by which he led the darkened soul of the Samaritan woman out into the light. See Soul-winners, Cyclo., 3908.

In chap. 5, he is The Great Physician, bending in compassion over the sufferers at the pool. He shows his divine power by the instantaneous cure of a hopeless case (ver. 8, 9). See Christ Heals, Cyclo., 1539.

In chap. 6, he is The Bread of Life (ver. 48). Without him the souls of men perish of hunger. See Cyclo., 1308.

In chap. 7, he is The Water of Life (ver. 37) satisfying the thirsty heart. See Living Water, Cyclo., 3789.

In chap. 8, he is The Defender of the Weak. Here we have a scene showing his gallant defense of the fallen woman (ver. 3-11).

See also his defense of childhood, Mk. 10.13-15.

See Promises to Children, Cyclo., 1650.

In chap. 9, he is The Light of the World (ver. 5). He demonstrates his right to this distinction by giving light to one who was born blind (ver. 11). See Christ the Light, Cyclo., 2168.

In chap. 10, he is The Good Shepherd (ver. 11). He watches over "The Flock" with infinite care and gives his life for the sheep. See Christ, Shepherd, Cyclo., 3264.

In chap. 11, he is The Resurrection and The Life (ver. 25). He proves his right to this title by calling Lazarus from the tomb (ver. 43, 44). See Christ the Life, Cyclo., 2152.

In chap. 12, he is The King. He rides into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday and is acclaimed king of Israel by the multitude (ver. 12-15). See Christ, King, Cyclo., 3421.

In chap. 13, he Assumes the Place of a Servant. Here we have the marvelous scene of his condescension, as he washes the disciples' feet (ver. 4, 5). See Christ, Servant, Cyclo., 3901.

In chap. 14, he is The Consoler. Although standing under the very shadow of his cross, in his self-forgetfulness he comforts the sorrowing disciples (ver. 1). See Christ Comforts, Cyclo., 784.

In chap. 15, he is The True Vine (ver. 1). We see him as the source of all spiritual fruit. See Christ, Fruit, Cyclo., 1337, 1338.

In chap. 16, he is The Giver of the Spirit. On his departure he promised to send the Comforter into the world (ver. 7-15). See Holy Spirit, Cyclo., 1603.

In chap. 17, he is The Great Intercessor. He offers up his wonderful intercessory prayer for the church. See Christ's Intercession, Cyclo., 1783.

In chap. 18, he appears as The Model Sufferer (ver. 11). He submissively drinks the cup of suffering pressed to his lips by the Father's hand. See Sufferings of Christ, Cyclo., 3489-3495; Cup of Suffering, 3496.

In chap. 19, he is The Uplifted Saviour (ver. 18, also 3.14). He becomes "obedient unto death, even the death of the cross." See Saviour, Cyclo., 3360-3368.

In chap. 20, he is The Victor over Death. Four times he met and vanquished "The King of Terror": First, at the bedside of the little maid, Mt. 9.24, 25; second, at the bier of the widow's son, Lu. 7.11-13; third, at the tomb of Lazarus, Jn. 11. 43, 44; finally, he entered the very citadel of the "Grim Destroyer" and came forth conqueror (ch. 20.11-17; Re. 1.18). See Christ's Resurrection, Cyclo., 2410-2414.

In chap. 21, he is The Restorer of the Penitent. He welcomes wandering Peter back to the fold and commissions him to feed the sheep and lambs (ver. 15-17). See Promises to Penitent, 2884; Feeding the Flock, 2090.

TREE OF MOSES' LIFE

EXPLANATION.

The tree presents an outline study of the history of Moses beginning with his parentage and family, ending with his reappearance after death at the transfiguration of Christ.

By comparing the numbers above the small circles (fruits) on the tree, with the corresponding number given in the "Key," the main facts of this great life can be traced.

The letters in the small circles on the tree are abbreviations for the words found under the corresponding numbers in the "Key."

For example:—on the root of the tree, see FA in a circle marked 1. By referring to the KEY you find No. 1 is Father, Amram; BA in circle 3, see No. 3 in the KEY is Brother, Aaron, etc., etc.

ORDER OF EVENTS

In the accompanying drawing of the Tree of Christ's Life a bird's-eye view of his matchless life and work is presented.

We follow the natural order contained in the scriptures, beginning with his pre-existence with the Father through all Eternity.

Next come the prophetic announcements of his coming. The bright stars of prophecy which arose in the sky of Jewish history foretelling the appearance of a Mighty Saviour.

Then the facts concerning his infancy and early life, including the silent years of his obscurity.

Suddenly he emerges from his home in Nazareth and begins his public career.

The events of his ministry are arranged upon the tree as nearly as possible in the order in which they appear in the New Testament record. There is a considerable difference of opinion concerning the sequence of events of some portions of his work, but they are arranged here according to the best harmonies of the gospels.

KEY TO THE TREE OF CHRIST'S LIFE

Explanation of the large letters and characters suspended from the branches.

A (triangle) Represents Appearances, after his resurrection.

C Represents Second Coming.

D Represents Discourses.

E Represents Events.

G Represents the Glorified Christ.

P Represents Parables.

R Represents Resurrections.

V (triangle inverted) Represents Visions.

W Represents Christ's Post Resurrection Works.

There are three kind of miracles mentioned.

H Represents the Healing Miracles.

EXPLANATION OF THE TREE OF PAUL'S LIFE

The tree presents to the eye an outline of the story of Paul's life. It shows his family connections and the progressive stages of his great career.

By following the numbers upward, beginning at the roots of the tree and later on the branches, and in the pear-shaped fruits, an orderly view of his life will be obtained.

The numbers on the tree correspond with those in the "Key," and the letters on the fruits are abbreviations for the corresponding words contained in the "KEY."

THE PRODIGAL SON

A Type of the Redeemed Sinner

A COMPLETE STORY OF RUIN AND RECONCILIATION

The seven downward steps and the upward climb of the Prodigal. Christ pictures the Father placing the ring of reconciliation on the hand of the returning son.

Paul expands the thought and shows the wonderful blessings that come to the reconciled sinner, Ro.5.1-10.

Practical Helps for Young People and Christian Workers Generally

The purpose of this section is to furnish a ready-at-hand equipment for different kinds of religious work.

(1) To suggest to leaders of religious meetings some of the many topics found in the Text Cyclopedia and Bible Readings, which might be specially adapted for certain times and occasions.

In some cases the old line subjects have been thrown into more modern form in order to add to their attractiveness.

(2) The material in the Christian Worker's Outfit and Medicine Case, is arranged to meet the special emergencies which arise as the young spiritual laborer goes out into the field of service for the Lord.

(Aids to memorization)

Aids to the memorization of Bible facts, the location of selected verses, chapters, teachings, &c.

NOTE: It is well known that the best method of fixing any fact in the mind is by continued repetition and associating like things together.

In attempting to fix in the memory the location of important verses it is worth while to be constantly the lookout for any coincidences that occur.

FOR EXAMPLE: "The 3.16's." John 3.16, is considered the greatest promise in the Bible. The memory may be aided by associating this great promise with the other important 3.16's which occur in the Scriptures.

Pr.3.16, the preciousness of wisdom; Mal.3.16, the Lord's jewels; Lu.3.16, the two baptisms; Ac.3.16, the mighty name; 1 Co.3.16, the temple of the Holy Spirit; Col.3.16, the indwelling Word of God; 1 Ti.3.16, the mystery of godliness; 2 Ti.3.16, the value of the Scriptures.

Another illustration: The 2.10's of Jesus. Lu.2.10, the Joy Bringer; Ep.2.10, the Character Builder; Ph.2.10, the Adorable Name; Col.2.10, the Fulfiller of Life; He.2.10, the Captain of our Salvation; Re.2.10, the Crown Giver.

The 4.13's, The Gifts of Jesus, Jn.4.13-14, satisfaction; Ac.4.13, transformation; Ep.4.13, inspiration; Ph.4.13, power; 1 Th.4.13,14, consolation.

The use of a few such series of texts would greatly aid the memory; too many would be confusing.

Other Coincidences: The seventh chapter of Genesis contains references to the waters of death, which in the seventh chapter of John, Christ speaks of the water of life, (v.37).

Three great warning chapters are easily associated together because they all contain the figure of the three dead men: Jer.23, Eze.33, and Mt.23.

All contain solemn warnings to religious leaders.

Last Words. We desire to remember the last words of our loved ones.

Last Words, recorded:

Of Jesus, (on power), Ac.1.8.
Of James, (on soul winning), Ja.5.20.
Of Peter, (on growth), 2 Pe.3.18.
Of Jude, (on divine support), Jude 24,25.
Of John, (on divine grace), Re.22.21.

Memory Mottoes:

Finishing life's task, Jn.17.4.
Bible students, 2 Ti.2.15
Table, 1 Co.10.31.
Thought, Ph.4.8.
Planning, Ja.4.15.

BIBLE MARKINGThe Value Of

It is of great advantage to all lovers of God's Word to have some simple system of Bible marking.

- (1) As the Bible is marked from time to time it becomes doubly precious to the owner.
- (2) It preserves the result of years of study and makes the book increasingly valuable.
- (3) It keeps the outstanding truths, which have been discovered, fresh before the mind.

This will largely depend upon personal taste and training.

What to Mark

Generally speaking, it is wise to select great themes and mark them consecutively through the Bible, rather than too many single verses on a large variety of subjects.

The systems used are many and diverse.

The Various Systems

Whichever one is adopted, or personally worked out, should be used sparingly, and with careful discrimination.

If the book is marked impulsively every time a new thought is discovered, the page may soon become a mass of bewildering marks, which will be a hindrance in future studies.

(1) Underscoring, or encircling with a pencil, passages desired to be remembered, or made emphatic, the simplest method of marking, and is always available.

(2) The Color Scheme. Colored pencils may be used to good advantage to emphasize great themes. But as the colors are few, and the topics many, color marking has only a limited value.

In order to be helpful the colors should not be chosen arbitrarily, but have a distinct emblematical meaning. For example—

The Selection of the Colors Red (the color of blood) may be used to mark passages referring to such subjects as The Blood of Christ, see Text Cyclo. No. 679; Redemption, No. 2979; etc.

Blue (sky color) is appropriate for marking heavenly themes, such as Heavenly home, No. 1356; Heavenly host, No. 1357; etc.

Purple (the royal color), for subjects related to kingship, as Christ king, Nos. 3420, 3421, 708; God as King, No. 3419; etc.

Green (evergreen), for subjects referring to future hopes, as Immortality, Nos. 2405, 2406; Eternal Life, Nos. 2156, 2157; Eternal Hope, No. 1692; etc.

Yellow, for marking Golden Promises; Golden Chapters, No. 4311; Memory verses, No. 4314; etc.

MARKING WITH SYMBOLS

For those who have a little skill in drawing, and desire a more extended and definite system of Bible marking, the use of symbols and letters is recommended.

The Selection of the Symbols As far as possible the symbols should be chosen from the Scriptures, and drawn in miniature form upon the margin of the Bible, opposite the appropriate passages. For example—

Let an outline miniature drawing of an altar represent sacrifice, or consecration. Place the drawing on the margin opposite such passages as Abraham's sacrifice, Ge.22.6; or Paul's appeal for consecration, Ro.12.1; etc.

Let the outline of the wings of a dove represent the Holy Spirit. Mark a letter D over the wings opposite passages referring to the descent of the Spirit, as Mt.3.16; Ac.10.38.

Mark an I over the wings where the Spirit is mentioned as indwelling, see No. 1602.

Mark a T over the wings where the Holy Spirit is teaching, see No. 1607; an L where the Spirit is spoken of as leader, see No. 1611; etc.

Let the miniature outline of a book represent the Word of God.

Turn to the Text Cyclo., Nos. 415-445, and find the appropriate letters to mark upon the outline of the book. For example, mark E for endures, No. 415; I for inspired, No. 417; L for loved, No. 420; P for power, No. 421; S for study of, No. 428; etc., etc.

Whenever possible let the outline symbol represent some great theme, and the letters upon the symbol the different aspects of the subject, as illustrated above.

A cross may be the symbol of Christ's sacrifice, and it may be marked with different letters, to represent the different aspects of the subject.

A picture of a yoke opposite Mt.11.29, and kindred passages, would represent service.

A heart opposite a passage would indicate the thought of love.

A sword would typify warfare.

A censer with incense rising would represent prayer. This symbol could be marked with different letters as follows, E, prayer enjoined, see No. 2817; A, answered, No. 2818; U, united, No. 2823; S, secret, No. 2834; I, intercessory, No. 1785; etc., etc.

A harp would represent praise, and could be placed opposite such passages as those given in Nos. 1451-1454.

The above list of symbols for marking subjects could be extended indefinitely.

The value of symbols lies in the fact that they express important thoughts more strikingly, and in much less space, than can be done by words. This makes them especially available for use on the Bible margins.

PLACES FOR RELIGIOUS WORSHIP

(1) The Altar. A raised structure upon which sacrifices were offered or incense burned. It was man's simplest and earliest effort to give outward expression of faith in God, the desire to worship, and his need of sacrifice for sin.

Immediately after leaving the ark Noah erected an altar, and offered sacrifices unto the Lord.

This act was acceptable unto Jehovah, and resulted in a divine promise of blessing for the world throughout ages to come.

From Noah's time godly men continued to build altars for worship.

Abraham erected altars at different places where he sojourned. See Ge.12.7,8; 13.18, etc.

Jacob was an altar-builder. See Ge.33.20; 35.7, etc.

Moses, Joshua, Samuel, David, and other ancient worthies built altars for sacrifices, or in commemoration of great events. See Text Cyclo. No. 120.

(2) The Tabernacle. A sacred tent and its furniture made according to a divine plan given to Moses in the mount. He.8.5.

It was the idea of the altar, expanded by divine revelation, to meet the needs of the nation for sacrifice and worship.

The Tabernacle proper was divided into two parts—the Holy place and the Holy of holies.

The Holy place was twenty cubits long, and ten wide.

It contained the "table of shewbread," the "golden candlestick," and the "altar of incense."

The Holy of holies was ten cubits square.

It contained the "ark of the covenant," a sacred chest which was a symbol of the divine presence.

A curtain, or veil, of costly material divided the Holy of holies into two sections.

No one, except the high priest, ever entered the Holy of holies, and he went in only once a year, on the "Day of Atonement," to make atonement for the sins of the people.

Many of the ceremonies and furnishings of the tabernacle had a typical significance, and foreshadowed the coming of Christ.

For the typical teachings see Hebrews, chs.8,9.

For its main articles of furniture see Text Cyclo. Altars, Nos. 122, 123; table, No. 3530; laver, No. 2051; candlestick, No. 637; ark, No. 216.

Plan of the Temple

(3) The Temple. The Children of Israel have been pilgrims from Egypt to the Promised Land.

When they were settled in their new home it was natural for them to desire something more permanent than a tent in which to worship.

David conceived the idea of building a temple for the Lord, but he was forbidden to do so because he was a man of blood, 1 Chr.22.8. He amassed a great amount of material for the construction of the building, but it was left for Solomon to erect it. See allusions to the three temples built in Jerusalem Text Cyclo. Nos. 3577, 3578, 3579.

The Synagogue. A Jewish place of worship. This institution appears to have arisen during the exile, or shortly after.

The Jews that were scattered abroad felt the need of places for religious assembly and thus synagogues were erected wherever there was a Jewish colony.

They differed from the temple at Jerusalem in the fact that they were generally plain buildings of rectangular form, with no altars for sacrifice or elaborate furnishings.

The Sabbath services held in them were comparatively simple, consisting largely of reading the Scriptures, prayer, some kind of religious instruction, and often an expository address.

They were in some sense forerunners of the church. Jesus attended their services, and Paul often spoke to assemblies gathered in these buildings. See Text Cyclo. Nos. 3521-3523.

The Church. We can trace the desire for spiritual worship up through the successive steps in the erection of the altar, the tabernacle, the temple, and the synagogue.

It reaches its highest stage of development in the institution of the church founded by Christ.

HEBREW TIMES, SEASONS AND FESTIVALS.

(1) The Sabbath. The seventh day divinely set apart in the decalogue, as a day of rest and worship.

See Text Cyclo. Nos. 3098-3102.

(2) The Six Annual Feasts. See Text Cyclo. Nos. 1256-1261.

(3) The Day of Atonement. The tenth of October. The day of humiliation and expiation for the sins of the nation.

On this day the high priest entered the holy of holies to make atonement for the sins of the people.

(4) The Sabbatical Year. Every seventh year the Mosaic law required that the land should remain untilled. Slaves were to be liberated and debts remitted.

(5) The Year of Jubilee. This occurred at the end of seven Sabbatic years or the fiftieth year.

It was a year of complete release. Slaves were to be emancipated, mortgages released, real estate revert to its original owners, (except in walled cities).

The land was to lie fallow as in the ordinary Sabbatic Year. The moral purpose was to unite the people in brotherhood, check oppression, and lighten the load of poverty.

RELIGIOUS OFFICIALS

(1) The Priests. Men set apart for special religious duties, acting as mediators between God and man, the offering of sacrifices, and other functions relating to divine worship.

See Text Cyclo. Nos. 2058-2063.

(2) The Prophets. Men divinely called and inspired to deliver God's messages, particularly in relation to future events.

In the New Testament the word "prophet" refers to a person who had received a special spiritual gift enabling him to interpret or proclaim truth, and does not necessarily involve the element of prediction.

(3) The Scribes. These were men who were originally secretaries or writers. In later history the term refers to a class of men who were students, copyists, and interpreters of the law.

Ezra was the most famous of their number. In New Testament times they were leaders among the Jews, associated with the priests, sticklers for the letter of the law and hostile to Christ.

(4) The Elders. In the Old Testament they were leaders in the community or among the tribes. In the New Testament times they were the chief men among the Jews, together with the scribes and priests.

In the early church they were leading officials elected, or appointed, to perform certain duties and invested with more or less authority in the administration of affairs.

(5) The Apostles. Originally the twelve disciples chosen by Christ and named apostles, by him, Lu.6.13. Matthias was afterwards chosen by the church, Ac.1.26. Paul was later on added to the number by special divine call. See Nos. 2080-2082.

The word is sometimes applied in a less restricted sense to men of apostolic gifts, like Barnabas, Ac.14.4,14.

(6) The Deacons. Christian officials appointed to perform some special duties, generally of a subordinate character.

The origin of the office is generally traced to the appointment of the seven men mentioned in Ac.6.1-6.

The qualifications for the office are given by Paul, 1 Ti.3.8,9.

RULES

1. Books of fiction may be kept two weeks and may be renewed once for the same period. The time limit for books of non-fiction shall be determined by the librarian.

2. A fine of two cents per day shall be charged on each book kept overtime except reserved books. A fine of five cents per hour will be charged for reserved books which are not returned at the time specified by the librarian when the book is taken. No book will be issued to persons incurring such fines until they have been paid.

3. All injuries to books beyond reasonable wear and all losses shall be made good to the satisfaction of the librarian.
